

A WOMAN was offered a life belt by a steward on the Titanic. "Why don't you keep it yourself?" she asked him. "There may not be enough to go around," was his answer. If that man went to his death, as so many did, he must have awakened with a crown of glory on his head, for this was the kind of Christianity Christ taught when on earth.

STILL OTHERS NEAR WHEN TITANIC SANK

Mount Temple's Captain Sighted Them But Says Ice Was Barrier Holding Rescue Ships Back.

COULD NOT RESPOND TO DISTRESS CALL

Washington, April 27.—Two steamers and a schooner were only a short distance away from the Titanic when she sank, according to the testimony of Captain James H. Moore, of the steamship Mount Temple, today, before the senate committee investigating the tragedy. Ice was the barrier that held back vessels hurrying to the rescue. The Mount Temple intercepted the Titanic's calls for help, Captain Moore said, and immediately he turned his ship's course toward the crippled liner. On his way he raised the lights of a schooner within a few miles of the scene of the tragedy and coming from that direction. When day broke to disclose a great field of ice ahead, the Mount Temple discovered a tramp steamer close by. The identity of neither schooner nor tramp was fixed. Passengers Must Wait. Chairman Smith made the statement today that no more passenger survivors would be heard until the officials, members of the crew and crews of other boats have testified. The four surviving officers of the Titanic who are anxious to return are still held. Fifth Officer Lowe is contemplating demanding of Senator Smith upon what information he based his interrogation of him as to his sobriety. Senator Smith

AWAIT COMING OF THE MORGUE SHIP

Relatives of Titanic's Victims Gather at Halifax.

DISPOSAL OF DEAD

Halifax, April 27.—The cableship Mackay-Bennett bearing the bodies of the Titanic victims which have been recovered will not arrive here until Monday. This was confirmed in a wireless message from the steamship received here early today. It was signed "Mackay-Bennett" and was as follows: "Confirm bodies of Astor and Straus on board. Due Monday with 150 bodies." As 205 bodies have been picked up, it is assumed that sixteen were so mutilated that burial at sea was necessary.

WILL SPEAK ON INDIANA HOMES

Mrs. Albion Follows Bacon at Associated Charities Meeting.

THE DATE IS TUESDAY

Mrs. Albion Follows Bacon, of Evansville, will give an address on "The Homes of Indiana" at the annual meeting of the Associated Charities, to be held in the High school auditorium, Tuesday evening, April 30. The address will be illustrated with stereoscopic views, many of which will be local, and the meeting will be not only interesting but also instructive and educational. Mrs. Bacon is greatly interested in the matter of better living and housing conditions, and has a national reputation for efforts along these lines. She is famous as a philanthropic worker and is also an author of considerable note. Her housing conditions, unsanitary dwellings, dark rooms, overcrowding, lack of water, sewerage and drainage, are chief factors in causing disease, vice and immorality, and these causes must be vigorously combated. Mrs. Bacon is in great favor as a speaker at national and state gatherings. Recently a writer said of her: "No speaker of the convention came closer to the hearts of her audience than Mrs. Albion Follows Bacon, of Evansville. Mrs. Bacon is a slight, girlish creature, and it is hard to believe she has a grown daughter, so young and frail she looks. Mrs. Bacon knows how to grip her audience, and no one who has heard her talk on tenement conditions can ever again be indifferent to the subject." The Women's League and other organizations are interesting themselves in this meeting, and it is to be hoped that a large audience may greet the speaker. Admission is free, no collection or subscription is taken, and everybody is most cordially invited.

SEEKING LOST RELATIVES HERE

GEORGE (ISELT) SUCCOP.

George Succop, aged 22 years, of Chicago, is in Fort Wayne trying to obtain information that will enable him to find a brother and sister whom he has never seen. Until a short time ago the young man did not know he had any surviving relatives. He was born at Hope hospital where his mother died. At the age of one week he was taken to Chicago where he grew to manhood. Since coming to Fort Wayne he has learned that his name is Robert Iselt.

PLANS FOR GREAT DOINGS AT CULVER

When Indiana Society of Chicago Comes Back Home June 1.

OUTLINE OF PROGRAM

Chicago, April 27.—The formal program of the outing of the Indiana society of Chicago at Culver, Ind., on June 1, made public today, exhibits the elaborate conventional detail of the Hoosier festival, but it does not expose the sensational episodes secretly being prepared and which are to be recorded by moving picture machines. When the hundreds of exiled Indians leave their special train on the private switch at Culver academy they will proceed, headed by a military band, under arches of "Welcome," to the open air theater, where the liberty of the academy grounds will be presented by Col. J. R. Gignilliat. After this ceremony the members of the society will cross to the south side of the lagoon, where luncheon will be served. A review of the Culver battalion of infantry and the Black Horse troop will take place at 10:45, followed by rough riding, wall-scaling, gun drills, a sham battle and other spectacular maneuvers of the students of the military school. All the exploits of the skilled cadets are to be outlined by the society's athletes at their meet, in the course of which "Uncle" J. M. Studebaker and John Ade, champion horse-shoe pitchers of the world, will play a game; William Dudley Foulke, champion swimmer of the middle west, will give an exhibition of plain and fancy diving, and Charles Alling, jr., will trim ten ladies hats in ten minutes. Valuable prizes are to be awarded in these and many other events calling for the physical and intellectual agility of the membership, both Hoosier and Hoosierettes.

SNOKE COMMITTEE MEETING.

General Committee Will Have Session Next Week. A meeting of committee "A" of the smoke committee of the Fort Wayne Civic Improvement association will be held this evening at the Commercial club for the purpose of making plans for active work toward the elimination of smoke as a nuisance in Fort Wayne. O. N. Gullin, chairman of the general committee, has called a meeting for next Thursday night at which time reports from the sub-committee chairmen will be received and instructions given for further work.

FAILED TO HELP WASH THE DISHES

This Fact Contributed to Getting Mr. Sweet a Prison Term.

GRILLED BY COURT

Indianapolis, Ind., April 27.—Failure to help his wife wash and wipe dishes, when she was earning the living, was one of the contributory causes for Oliver B. Sweet, of this city, being ordered to serve a year in the federal prison at Fort Leavenworth by Judge Anderson. Two years ago Sweet pleaded guilty to violate the oleomargarine laws, but the sentence and $1,000 fine was suspended when a tearful plea was made that his services were needed at home to support the wife and three small children. The suspension was made with the understanding that Sweet's conduct should be above reproach. When it was shown Judge Anderson that Sweet had cut a dash over the eye of M. S. Brown, a grocer, who was trying to collect a bill and that Sweet's wife was compelled to take in boarders and washings while he sat around in idleness, the court decided that liberty should be restrained. When Sweet asked for "just one more chance," Judge Anderson denounced him as a "dead beat" and not worthy of another opportunity.

EAST SIDERS WILL MEET.

The East Side and Maumee River Civic Improvement association will meet next week for the purpose of discussing possible locations for a new park which residents of that part of the city are anxious to secure. The association is working to have a park along the Maumee river, that will cover at the least, seventy-five acres.

TAFT DEVOTES A DAY TO GOLF

While Mr. Roosevelt Puts in Time Talking Strenuously.

APPEARS IN PARADE

Newark, N. J., April 27.—President Taft laid aside his political clothes, put on an old gray cap and a sweater, and relieved his feeling by knocking a golf ball around the course today at the Baltusrol Golf club, near Orange. The president played with Ozden Colgate, of Newark. There were many other players on the links but out of respect for Mr. Taft there was no gallery to watch him play. Tonight he will address the Union League club at its banquet in honor of the birthday of President Grant. He is due back in Washington for a ten hour stay early Sunday morning, leaving again Sunday night for Massachusetts to continue his campaign before the presidential primaries, which will be held on Tuesday.

ROOSEVELT HARD AT IT.

Brookline, Mass., April 27.—When Col. Theodore Roosevelt arrived in this city today on his special train he found a great crowd surrounding the stage. From a baggage truck, which he called a "golden chariot," he made a ten minutes' speech and expressed his willingness to give his political opponents "all the fight they wanted." He then participated in a parade through the business section. Following the parade he proceeded in an automobile to Middleboro and Taunton, planning to board the special train again at Taunton for New Bedford.

ASSAILS SOCIALISM AND RECALL IDEA IN REFORM

Archbishop Ireland Declares Faith in American Democracy, But Points Out Some Perils.

BRYAN SEES NEW CAUSE FOR ALARM

Jokingly Expresses Fear of Counter Suggestions from Republicans.

IN COMPROMISE WAY

Tampa, Fla., April 27.—Declaring that he believed the result of the Roosevelt-Taft fight would be the nomination for the presidency of a third man by the republicans, Wm. J. Bryan, in a speech here yesterday used the alleged words of each against the other. "Indeed," said Mr. Bryan, "I am daily apprehending the suggestion that I be nominated as a compromise republican candidate on the declaration of Roosevelt that I am more progressive than Taft and of Taft that I am less dangerous than Roosevelt." Mr. Bryan in denouncing Underwood "as the candidate of Wall street," explained that he was not necessarily against a southern man, but that if the nomination of a southern man were desired, "why not a real southern democrat like Hoke Smith, Ollie James or Charles Culbertson?" He reiterated that he had no preference between progressives, but that the democratic party should not throw away this greatest of its opportunities by nominating a reactionary. He added that if a progressive were nominated at Baltimore he would show the country that he could fight more effectively for another man than he had fought for himself.

EXPECT HEAVY TOTAL.

Deputy Internal Revenue Collector C. M. Blue states that revenue receipts for the month will be as large if not larger than for the previous month, and will far exceed receipts for the corresponding month a year ago. New territory has been added to the local district and this is responsible for the heavy receipts noted during the first months of this year.

Galena, Ill., April 27.—Declaring his confidence in the permanency of American democracy and its certainty to overcome the perils which beset it, Archbishop Ireland spoke today at the Grant celebration on "Some Problems of Democracy."

Among those perils, the archbishop spoke of the proposed reforms of which he said the most fatal was the recall, "especially the recall of the judiciary." His speech was also marked by a criticism of socialism and its tents.

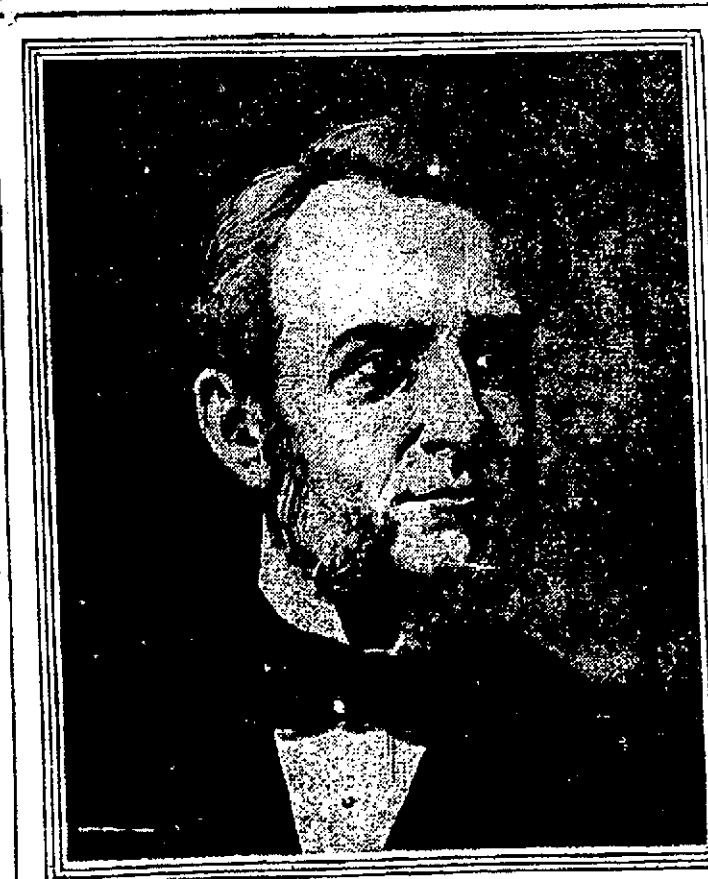

Two Varieties of Perils. The archbishop prefaced his treatment of the problems, which he classed as "the economic peril" and the "political peril," by declaring, "in the permanency of American democracy I have the most steadfast faith, because steadfast faith I have in the patriotism and the good sense of the people of America. But confidence in the abiding ability of American democracy to pass safely through every storm, must not beguile us into complacency and apathy while the storm circles above its brow and the peril glimmers beneath its feet. Democracy is on trial in America. Our land today is a spectacle to all nations; the acclaim to America is universal; America proves or disproves the beneficence, the vitality of democracy. Touching what he characterized as the economic peril, Archbishop Ireland said in part:

"The economic peril is well within our doors; care is needed that it do not penetrate further into the interior of the household. Whatever leads to the disruption of the social organism is forbidden; that also is forbidden which ruins private property—the foundation stone upon which rests the social structure, the very core of life is human effort, and human aggrandizement, whether in the individual or in the collectivity. Eliminate private property, destroy or minimize unduly its rights, make it insecure or profitless—you have ruled that labor is not worth the fatigue, that indolence and improvidence are privileges to be sought for; you have stilled personal and national progress, you have driven back the human race to the chaos of barbarism and savagery."

Honest Toil Not Barred. "This may well be said to the honor of the people of America—it is no wish of theirs that those who are the poor or shall be held to their poverty, that honest toil shall be barred from sufficient and adequate remuneration. None in America will resent efforts put forth in fair play toward the social Aged Chicago Man Who Gave His $6,000,000 Fortune to Small Colleges, is Dead.

DANIEL K. PEARSON

Chicago, April 27.—Funeral services for Dr. D. K. Pearson, the aged philanthropist, who died early this morning in a sanitarium in Hinsdale, Ill., will be held next Tuesday afternoon. Interment will be at Hinsdale. Scores of college presidents whose institutions received gifts from Dr. Pearson, will attend the services. Dr. Pearson gave six million dollars to small colleges in different parts of the country, it being his desire to dispose of his entire fortune before he died. He had been ill with pneumonia for nearly a week and appeared to be improving until shortly before the end came.

Mrs. Birney Hutchins, Mrs. E. Parks, Mrs. G. W. Fitzsimmons and Mr. and Mrs. George Stover have returned from Indianapolis, where they attended the meeting of the grand chapter of the Order of the Eastern Star.

When They Played at Huntington.

"N" O," said "Charley" Miller, of the Wayne Paper Goods Co., "I haven't been playing bill for some time, and don't know just how good a quality of the national game I might be able to put up, but I certainly do remember some fine old contests in the days gone by. "I remember once," he went on with a reminiscent smile, "when our team went down from the Electric works to play the Huntington team. I believe it was about twenty years ago. When we got down there, we found that they hadn't charged any admission fee at the gate, but that they had chosen a Huntington man to pass the hat and gather up a wad of nickels and dimes which were to go to the winning team. All I remember was that we won the contest and then went to get those nickels and dimes. But the man who did the collecting made a clean get-away and we never saw him again. So, we were hopping out of it. Gee, but we were hopping mad. I remember that Harry Wilson, now a successful newspaper man at Grand Forks, N. D., was one of the players and he didn't have a cent with him. He tried to ride the blind baggage on a Washburn train to get home, but Harry stopped the train twice and put him off, and then we boys chipped in and paid for his fare, even though we were all in a strained financial condition. Harry was always grateful for this exhibition of our generosity and friendship."

COUNTRY CLUB TO OPEN NEXT WEEK

First Official Event on Golf Course Listed for May 30.

MEETING ON MONDAY

The board of directors and members of the house committee of the Fort Wayne Country Club will meet Monday evening at the Commercial club to perfect arrangements for the official opening of the club house on May 4, one week from today. The meeting has been delayed owing to the absence of John Thione, chairman of the house committee, who returned home today. E. S. Keller will have charge of the club house again during the coming season. The official opening of the golf course will occur May 30, at which time an interesting program of competitive events will be given. Arthur F. Hall, chairman of the sports and pastimes committee is at present completing the program.

MANY WANT TO JOIN.

Since the officers of the local lodge of Moose announced that a junior order of the lodge is to be established in Fort Wayne, more than a hundred applications for membership have been received from young men between the ages of sixteen and twenty-one years. J. A. Rondthaler, of Anderson, is agitating the movement here for the new branch, which will be organized in the near future.

Will Establish a City for "Newsies"

CHARLES A. PHELPS.

Charles A. Phelps, the well-known news dealer and president of the Fort Wayne Newsboys' union, has purchased a tract of land in the new Belmont addition and plans to establish a "newsboys' city" during the summer. The idea was conceived by Mr. Phelps from the "boys' city" at Winona lake. Mr. Phelps plans to erect tents on the grounds and take about half the newsies of the city there for two weeks' outing. The boys for the time will be their own bosses, elect a mayor, postmaster and storekeeper. They will have an election campaign, make stump speeches and conduct cancesses. Mr. Phelps declares that he will do all he can to make the venture a success.

GREAT COMING OF MORGUE SHIP

Documents giving verdicts of "accidental death" were prepared here today in readiness for the coroner's jury, which will inspect the bodies of the Titanic dead now on their way here on board the cableship Mackay-Bennett. The names of the drowned will be filled in later, in cases where names can be ascertained. Stonecutters were set at work today inscribing a number of headstones which will mark the graves of those bodies unidentified or unclaimed, which will be buried in Halifax cemetery.

The White Star line officials persist in their refusal to admit to the dock any besides friends and relatives of the dead who present proper credentials. More than one hundred of the bereaved are already here from various parts of the United States. Arrangements have been made with the express companies to permit of the shipment of bodies immediately after their identity has been established to all parts of Canada and the United States. All the formalities in connection with crossing the line will be waived. A full description of the unclaimed bodies will be taken and forwarded to the New York offices of the White Star line. It is the intention of the company to publish them in papers throughout the United States and Canada. If a body is claimed after burial the mayor of Halifax has promised that there will be no difficulty in getting it exhumed and shipped to relatives.

Extraordinary precautions have been taken to guard the dock at which the Mackay-Bennett will tie up. The confusion which contain the bodies will not be opened until they reach the city morgue. There they will be placed in charge of a local undertaking company, and full opportunity will be given those who prove their right to view the bodies and make identifications. The coroner's jury will make its inspection at the morgue.

MR. TAFT GREW RED WITH ANGER

Pounded Platform Rail as He Sailed Into Mr. Roosevelt.

THIRD TERM DANGER

Newark, N. J., April 27.—President Taft renewed in Newark last night his attack on Colonel Theodore Roosevelt. Carrying his "fighting" campaign into New Jersey the president spoke to several thousand people in the Armory here, declaring that it was with the utmost reluctance that he had decided to answer Mr. Roosevelt's criticism. He did not reply to Mr. Roosevelt's charges in detail, but tried to make it plain that in his opinion Mr. Roosevelt knew most of the charges to be groundless.

"If I consulted my own wish," said the president, "I would be silent under Mr. Roosevelt's attack and trust to the future to vindicate me. But I represent a cause. I represent the republican party that stands for wise progress under the constitution and stands for liberty regulated by law. I must do my duty and answer the charges of Colonel Roosevelt."

Spoke With Emotion. The president spoke with evident emotion. He walked the platform, pounded the rail in front of him and as he warmed up to his subject grew red in the face with anger.

Mr. Taft referred briefly to many of Mr. Roosevelt's charges, which he answered in Boston; his alleged friendship for Senator Lorimer, of Illinois, and for the "bosses" in various states; to the declaration that he was in favor of an oligarchy and against government by the people, and to many others.

"The thing that sinks deepest in my heart," said the president, "is the charge that I am an oligarch and don't believe in the ability of the people of the United States to govern themselves. If there is anything I have pride in, it is that I am an American citizen and a part of the American government that has shown itself the finest and best and most beneficial in the world."

Taking up the charge that he was not a progressive, Mr. Taft said he did not think a progressive could be judged by his looks or by his appreciation of poetry.

To Determine a Progressive. "I think progressiveness is determined by what is done and not by what is said," cried the president.

In reply to Mr. Roosevelt's accusation that the president had gone into the white house a "progressive" but became reactionary by association with former Speaker Cannon, former Senator Aldrich and others, Mr. Taft explained that it was at Mr. Roosevelt's suggestion that he consulted these men.

In closing the president called attention to what he called "the danger" of a third term. "Are the conditions so peculiar?" asked the president, "that he is needed to do the job as he calls it? Then why not a fourth term and a fifth?"

All through his speech the president voiced his belief that Mr. Roosevelt had not given him a "square deal."

Mr. Taft came to Newark from New York by automobile. His trip across the New Jersey meadows was uneventful and he was recognized by only a few of the thousands of people who saw him pass.

MAYOR GRICE TO SPEAK. On Program for Odd Fellows' Celebration Monday Evening.

The speakers at the anniversary services of the ninety-third anniversary of the founding of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows, to be held Monday evening at the hall of the Fort Wayne lodge in the Odd Fellows' block, will be Mayor Grice, Rev. W. A. Griest and Jesse McBeth. Three lodges of the city, the Our Home, Harmony and Fort Wayne, will unite in the anniversary observance meeting and it promises to be an occasion of great interest.

The addresses of the evening will be interspersed with a musical program. The soloist orchestra will be present and furnish select numbers, and Miss Cora Link will render a solo. During the serving of refreshments the orchestra will render a special program. At the dance following the Electro-Technic orchestra will play.

ISABELL PUT IN SLUG OF LIQUOR

Didn't Go Well With Her Coffee and She Went to the Lockup.

CITY COURT DOCKET

When Isabell Wells struck the city she thought a slug of whisky mixed with her coffee would do her good so she bought a bottle and tried the experiment and things were going well with her until Patrolman Harry Grimme found her wandering around the south depot trying to tell the history of her life.

She was charged with drunkenness and experienced officers say there is no doubt that she is guilty, but a rambling talk on the witness stand in the city court today indicated she would be a good subject to hold and she went over under a continuance until May 2.

She is about sixty years old and stated that she came here from Richmond and that she had been used to drinking whisky in Kentucky, and it didn't make her drunk like the Indiana brand did. She also insisted that she has appendicitis and while she is in jail investigation will be made to determine where she came from and how she happened to wander into Fort Wayne.

Carroll is Acquitted. Judge Mungovan held that Albert J. Carroll, superintendent of the Indiana school, out away only such parts of the school in front of Samuel Hyndman's home as were necessary for the stringing of wires, and that no particular damage was done. Mr. Carroll was acquitted of the charge of cutting trees on a public highway.

Strong Will Be Held. Fred Strong was sent over for thirty-five days to straighten him out. He is the fellow who tried to hang himself in his cell at headquarters yesterday afternoon.

Dick Western and John Smith, plain drunks, were each assessed $1 and costs.

COUNTY DEMOCRATS MEET.

Receive Instructions About First Voters' Registration.

Democratic registration inspectors and clerks, county candidates and members of the democratic central committee met this afternoon at the Saengerbund hall for a conference concerning the new registration law and for the work to be done May 9 when the first registration of voters takes place.

Those present enjoyed an address by Hon. Philip Zoeder, of Tell City, Ind., democratic nominee for reporter of the supreme and appellate courts, who arrived in the city this morning, for the purpose of consulting with party leaders in the count, and giving instructions concerning the first registration.

THE WEATHER.

LOCAL FORECAST.

Fort Wayne, April 27.—For Fort Wayne and vicinity: Fair tonight with probably light frost. Sunday increasing cloudiness and warmer, with probably showers by afternoon or night.

GENERAL FORECAST.

Washington, April 27.—For Indiana—Fair tonight, probably frost north and central portions. Sunday increasing cloudiness and warmer, probably followed by showers by night.

For Lower Michigan—Fair tonight with frost; Sunday fair with slowly rising temperature.

Summary of Weather Conditions. The storm which was central over the upper Mississippi valley yesterday morning has moved rapidly northeastward to the lower St. Lawrence valley, accompanied by light rains from the lake region to the north Atlantic coast states, and it has been followed by cooler weather throughout the central districts. No heavy frosts are reported from the central states, but some freezing weather prevails this morning from northern Michigan westward to the Dakotas. Over the Ohio and middle Mississippi valleys heavy rainfall has occurred, amounts in excess of one inch being reported from Louisville, Cincinnati, Knoxville and Memphis, while 3.55 inches is reported from Nashville.

Fair weather prevails over practically all districts west of the Mississippi this morning.

Another storm is forming in the Rocky mountain region but its influence will not be felt in this section before Sunday afternoon or Sunday night. It will be fair tonight, with probably light frost, but somewhat warmer Sunday.

TOTAL OF EIGHTY MORE BODIES ARE IDENTIFIED.

New York, April 27.—A wireless message received this afternoon by the White Star line from the cable ship Mackay-Bennett, announced that 75 more bodies of the 219 found at the scene of the Titanic disaster by the Mackay-Bennett and the Minia, have been identified.

Frank D. Millet, the artist, who accompanied Major Butt on his trip abroad, is among the dead picked up by the Mackay-Bennett. His name appears on the list of identified dead sent in by wireless today.

asked Officer Lowe if he was a drinking man, stating that he had been informed he had been drinking the night the Titanic sank. This Lowe indignantly denied, asserting that he was a "teetotaler."

The committee decided early in the day to subpoena for next week F. M. Sammis, chief engineer of the Harriet company, and Business Agent Bottomley, of that company; Operator Bride, of the Titanic, who is in a hospital in New York, and J. A. Hoosey, a wireless operator at Taunton, Mass.

Samuel Goldenberg and several others from New York, representing the committee of Titanic survivors, arrived in Washington today.

Witness Has Disappeared. Chairman Smith said they came to testify as to the whereabouts of Captain Smith of the Titanic and J. Bruce Ismay, managing director of the International Mercantile marine on Sunday evening before the accident.

Second Officer Lightoller, of the Titanic, was recalled. Senator Smith questioned him as to his knowledge of the crew of the ship. Mr. Lightoller said he knew them. Mr. Lightoller asked the senator, "No sir. There was a Klein, a second class barber, on board. I knew him personally."

"Did he survive?" "No sir." Louis Klein gave out a statement in Cleveland, making sensational charges. He was brought here to testify and promptly disappeared. Lightoller said he saw Klein in Senator Smith's office and he was not the barber. The officer then was excused.

Captain James H. Moore, captain of the steamship Mount Temple, which was supposed to have been almost within hailing distance of the Titanic on the day when that ship went down, next took the stand. He said he had been at sea for thirty-two years, twenty-seven years in the North Atlantic ocean.

Nature of Iceberg.

"Are you familiar with ice and icebergs?" asked Senator Smith. "Yes sir, very familiar," said the captain. "An iceberg may be composed of anything. It is ice broke off from the land in the arctic regions and may be composed of land, rocks and most anything that it would pick up in its course."

Senator Smith sought this information because of some levity caused by a question he asked several days ago as to what an iceberg was composed of and the witness answered "ice."

"Have you seen icebergs by day and by night?" asked Senator Smith. "Yes sir."

"How do they look on a starlight night?" "White sir. In fact they are luminous."

The night of the Titanic catastrophe was clear and the sky was studded thick with stars.

Was 49 Miles from Titanic. "At the time you got this message from the Titanic how far distant do you figure the vessel was from you?" "About 49 miles."

The senator asked what speed the Mount Temple made toward the Titanic. Captain Moore said a trifle more than eleven knots.

"About 3 a. m. we ran into our first ice," continued the witness and we immediately doubled the lookout watch. At 3:25 ship's time we had to stop. At that time we figured we were about fourteen miles distant from where the Titanic signalled."

Another delay was occasioned to the Mount Temple by a small schooner, the green light of which lured the Mount Temple. For a moment the captain got range of the white mast head lights and "Was the schooner between you and the Titanic?" asked the senator.

"Yes sir."

"How much nearer the Titanic was that schooner than you were?" "Oh, the schooner couldn't have been more than a mile and a half from me. I heard the fog horn of the schooner and then put the fog horn to avoid her."

The captain said after he stopped a few minutes to avoid the ice, he proceeded slowly on the course toward the Titanic. The schooner he saw coming from the direction of the Titanic was moving not more than two knots an hour. When he saw her at 3 a. m. she was, he estimated, about twelve miles from the Titanic.

ROOSEVELT ALSO GETS STEAM UP

Replies to Taft in Merciless Denunciation in Massachusetts.

LABELS HIM FEEBLE

Worcester, Mass., April 27.—Merciless denunciation of President Taft was Col. Roosevelt's reply last night to the president's attack upon him. Some of Col. Roosevelt's assertions were:

That President Taft had not given the people of the country a "square deal," but that owing to a "quality of feebleness" he had "yielded to the bosses and the great privileged interests."

That one part of the president's attack upon him was "the crookedest kind of a deal" and "deliberate misrepresentation."

That President Taft had not merely in thought, word and deed been disloyal to our past friendship, but had been disloyal to every canon of ordinary decency and fair dealing such as should obtain even in dealing with a man's bitterest opponents."

Puts Taft in Anaxias Club. That the president's statement regarding the influence of federal officeholders in the campaign was "not only an untruth, but it is an absurd untruth."

That Mr. Taft convicted himself of insincerity when he signed the Payne-Aldrich tariff bill.

That in speaking of Col. Roosevelt's position in regard to the trust problem, President Taft "is himself guilty of a crooked deal."

Col. Roosevelt took up President Taft's attack on him point by point, laying the president in one scathing sentence after another.

When Col. Roosevelt reached here, at the beginning of his Massachusetts trip, he found the streets thronged. A band and a torchlight procession escorted him to Mechanics hall, where he delivered his main speech. Later he addressed an overflow meeting.

As to the Square Deal. Col. Roosevelt in part said: "In this campaign I regard the issues at stake as altogether too important to permit it to be twisted into one of personalities between President Taft and myself. But Mr. Taft's speeches contain statements that I must answer. Most of what he said needs no comment from me. When, for instance, he said that I have endeavored to minimize the importance of my Columbus speech, he says what he must know to be untrue; he cannot have read my Carnegie hall speech, my speech before the Massachusetts lower house, my noonday speech at St. Louis, my Philadelphia and Pittsburgh and Louisville speeches, without knowing that I have elaborated and emphasized what I said at Columbus."

Col. Roosevelt referred to President Taft's explanation of his statement "that ours is a government of all the people by a representative part of the people."

"For him to try," said Col. Roosevelt, "to escape the consequences of his statements by saying that he alluded only to the intelligence of the people. To speak of such action on his part as a 'square deal' is itself the crookedest kind of deal. He is trying to dodge the consequences of his statement by deliberate misrepresentation of that statement."

CLUB ELECTS OFFICERS.

Will Meet During Summer at Robison Park Pavilion.

The annual meeting of the Jolly Dancing Club was held Friday evening, and officers for the coming year were elected as follows:

President, Will F. Shoch; first vice president, Will Heider; second vice president, Eric Peterson; third vice president, James Majors; financial secretary, Will Reiter; corresponding secretary, F. J. Borkenstein; treasurer, W. M. Meyers.

Arrangements were completed for guests next which will be observed at the next dance to be given May 1. The club will meet but once a month during the summer months, and all meetings will be held at the pavilion at Robison park.

CITY BREVITIES.

Mrs. Hannah E. Connors, of Ewing street, is recovering from a serious illness.

Attorney Elwin Hulse, of the law firm of Taylor & Hulse, is in Denver on business.

The Adult Bible class of the Crescent Avenue Evangelical church was delightfully entertained last evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Arnold. Mrs. J. L. Rousey assisted the hostess. Thirty-five members of the class were present.

There will be a missionary service at the Grace Reformed church Sunday evening at 7:30 o'clock. The addresses will be by Mrs. G. E. McKeehan and Mrs. A. K. Zartman and George Schiffer, a paper by Helen Trish, and a solo by Mrs. F. E. More, besides other music. In the morning the sermon subject of the pastor, Rev. A. K. Zartman, will be "In His Name."

"Buster," the English bull mascot of No. 3 engine house, who has been missing for three days, has been located at Dunfee, Ind. How he made a visit to that city is puzzling the men stationed at No. 3. He will be brought back to Fort Wayne this evening.

betterment of any class in the population, especially when that class are those upon whom weighs most heavily the burden of human life and without whose earnest and willing concurrence the talent of others is doomed to idleness and industry and enterprise put out of each. If this were the meaning of that many-sided and heterogeneous combination of plannings and activities calling itself socialism, welcome it we should, welcome it we would.

"But what most usually are the theories and the methods of socialism? Here it is the absolute denial of the right to private property; 'property' we are told is 'theft.' There it is such impediments to private property, such control and limitation that few or none will toil to acquire it, few or none will be able to retain it."

Theories of Socialism. "These, the theories of socialism; and the theories are preached broadcast. It is the bitter hatred of one class of citizens toward another. It is the reckless jealousy that pulls down and destroys; it is the denance of law and social order; it is the menace of war, even unto the spilling of blood. Socialism, unprincipled in theory, wild and violent in its method, is today the peril of our land, whatever their form of government. Especially it is the peril of democracies; there wider social liberty is allowed to its preachings; there political rights are more easily swayed into its service. Socialism today is the peril of America. They are blind who see not its workings."

On the political problem, the archbishop declared that the main question was how are the people to govern, whether directly or through representatives, acting under constitutional limitations.

"Stability of constitution and law is the vital condition of social order, of continuous economic progress. What becomes of this stability when a small percentage of voters may at their caprice suspend decrees of legislatures, call for alterations in existing laws, propose as projects of law their whims and fancies? It is the road to social revolution. Into it we may at any moment be cast by a small minority of the people—often the precise minority which least deserves the protective hand of government."

Of the recall he said: "Of all the proposed reforms, the most fatal is the recall, especially the recall of the judiciary. No greater peril to the institutions of democracy, to the permanency of social order could well be imagined than the legalizing of the recall of the judiciary."

NEWS OF OUR NEIGHBORING TOWNS

THE DEATH OF TWO FOLLOWS EXPLOSION

Farmer Was Blown to Pieces and Son Fatally Injured While Blasting Stumps.

Montpelier, Ind., April 27.—George Gaskill, a wealthy farmer, four miles east of here, was blown to pieces and his son, Ralph, aged 9, was fatally injured when a quantity of dynamite, which the farmer had been using in blasting stumps, exploded prematurely late yesterday. Another son, Russell, aged 5, was severely injured, but will recover.

The boys were watching their father work when the explosion came. Ralph's legs were blown off and he was injured about the face and head. The younger boy was badly cut and bruised.

MONROEVILLE NEWS.

Monroeville, Ind., April 27.—George Gintler is in Minnesota looking at some real estate.

Mrs. Frank Savio and son, Earl, are visiting relatives at Dayton, Ohio.

John L. Sheehan and Marion Feuton made a business trip to Fort Wayne Friday.

Mrs. David Fry and family have moved from their country home, in Madison township, to town.

Mrs. J. M. Jackson and Mrs. Seymour Jones, were at Fort Wayne today to attend the "Light Eternal" matinee.

Bert Edwards, who has been located in Florida for some time, is spending a few days with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Edwards. He expects to return south in about three weeks.

Samuel Hurvey and family have moved here from Wapakoneta, O.

The fire department was called out last Monday to Purman's saw mill, where a fire had gained considerable headway, but by prompt action it was extinguished with but small loss to the building.

T. S. Jones has completed the school enumeration for the town and the total will be about 248, being an increase of 30 over last year.

The stage and scenery of the new St. Rose Catholic school hall are about completed and arrangements are being made to present the pretty musical comedy, "The Silver Queen," on the evenings of May 6 and 7. "This production is in the hands of a professional actor, assisted by local talent, and will be one of the best productions ever staged in Monroeville.

The eighth grade graduation exercises of the public schools will be held in the M. E. church next Tuesday evening. The program will consist of music and recitations and the address to the class will be given by Dr. C. E. Enshberger, of Wittenberg university, Springfield, Ohio. The class consists of the following: Cara Savio, Mary Campbell, Leora Brown, Louise Spake, Vera Dorris, Pauline Taylor, Henrietta Neizer, Blanche Taylor, Eva Geddes, Daniel Knuffman, Lee Noyer and James McArde.

OSSIAN GRADUATION.

Ossian, Ind., April 27.—The Ossian high school commencement was held last night, a class of five receiving diplomas. The members of the class are Dale Ferguson, Clarence Jackson, Wayne Summers, Arthur Fisher and Keith Smith. The Bluffton high school orchestra furnished music.

THE TEST OF MERIT

Fort Wayne People Are Given Convincing Proof.

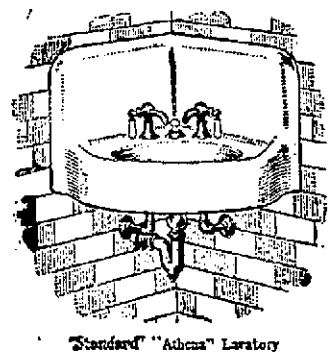

No better test of any article can be made than the test of time and this is particularly true of a kidney medicine. Doan's Kidney Pills have stood this test and stood it well. What better proof of the merits of this remedy could you demand than the statement of a Fort Wayne resident who has been cured and has stayed cured?

Read the following:
George Frey, of 1235 Maumee street, Fort Wayne, Ind., says: "I never found another remedy of such great merit as Doan's Kidney Pills. My kidneys were weak and my back pained me intensely. In a short time after I began using Doan's Kidney Pills, procured at Meyer Bros. Co.'s Drug Store, my trouble was corrected and I enjoyed much better health." (Statement given December 2, 1908.)

Re-endorsement.
On July 1, 1910, Mr. Frey said: "Since I took Doan's Kidney Pills I have had little or no trouble from my kidneys. It always gives me pleasure to make the merits of this remedy known."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

THIS SHIP, TOO, WAS WRECKED, BUT ALL ON BOARD ESCAPED.

NORWEGIAN BARQUE, GUNVOR, WRECKED ON THE COAST OF CORNWALL, ENGLAND.

The biggest steamer that floats and the old windjammer of the era that is passing are both grisly for ocean's mill. Within a few days of the black Sunday that saw the fatal drift across the bow of the Titanic, a big three-masted Norwegian barque, the "Gunvor," went ashore under full sail on the Cornish coast of England and became a total loss.

All but one of the crew escaped by running out on the bowsprit and dropping on the rocks. Then one of the men who had escaped thus, swam back to the wreck and rescued the one man who was afraid to jump.

BLUFFTON NEWS.

Bluffton, Ind., April 27.—The merchants of Bluffton are arranging a co-operative sale for the near future.

KNIFE USED IN FIGHT.

Brothers-in-Law Quarrel Concerning a Board Bill.

Decatur, Ind., April 27.—Ol. Everett and Morton Burkhead, brothers-in-law, and residents of this city, became mixed up in trouble and as a result Burkhead has an ugly gash in his left shoulder made by a knife in the hands of Everett. Both are married men and employed as teamsters by the Adams heading factory.

The families of the two men are residing in the same house under an agreement that each should furnish one-half of the expenses and it was over the relative expenses paid by the parties that the trouble arose, each claiming that the other had not fully kept faith with the agreement. Everett was arrested and paid a fine and costs.

THE "WET" VICTORY

In Ashley, DeKalb County, Does Not Settle Saloon Question.

Auburn, Ind., April 27.—The fact that Springfield township in this county went "wet" by a majority of sixteen in the local option election held Thursday does not settle the saloon question in this township. Previous to the election two remonstrances against the saloons had been filed, both with majorities for the "drys," and now the "wets" will have these to meet before they will have clear sailing for the saloons in the township. The question will be settled in the courts.

This Home-Made Cough Syrup Will Surprise You

Stops Even Whooping Cough Quickly. A Family Supply at Small Cost.

Here is a home-made remedy that takes hold of a cough instantly, and will usually cure the most stubborn case in 24 hours. This recipe takes a pint—enough for a whole family. You couldn't buy as much or as good ready-made cough syrup for $2.50.

Mix one pint of granulated sugar with 1/2 pint of warm water, and stir 2 minutes. Put 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex (fifty cents' worth) in a pint bottle, and add the Sugar Syrup. This keeps perfectly and has a pleasant taste—children like it. Braces up the appetite and is slightly laxative, which helps end a cough.

You probably know the medicinal value of pine in treating asthma, bronchitis and other throat troubles, sore lungs, etc. There is nothing better. Pinex is the most valuable concentrated compound of Norway white pine extract, rich in guaiacal and all the natural healing pine elements. Other preparations will not work in this formula.

The prompt results from this inexpensive remedy have made friends for it in thousands of homes in the United States and Canada, which explains why the plan has been initiated often, but never successfully.

A guaranty of absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded, goes with this recipe. Your druggist has Pinex, or will get it for you.

Supreme Court Decision Which Banishes Saloons from Kokomo.

The decision of the Indiana supreme court in the Kokomo saloon case, if it is correctly transmitted in the newspaper dispatches, is of especial interest in that it defines more clearly the authority of Indiana election boards. The decision is, in effect, that the board, which declared the tally sheet for one of the wards incorrect and attempted to remedy what it considered an error, exceeded its authority. It had no power to go behind the returns, and with the tabulation of the vote as it was cast the authority of the board ended.

Aside from the effect of the decision in banishing something like a score of saloons from the Howard county capital, where they sprang up quickly following the decision of the circuit court in favor of the first applicant for license, the case is an interesting one. Howard county was one of the earliest to fall into the "dry" column after the passage of the county option law in Indiana. When the city and township option law was placed upon the statutes, an election was held for the city of Kokomo, and on the face of the returns the "drys" were again victorious. Upon the questioned returns from one ward, however, the circuit court overruled the county commissioners and held that the city had in fact voted "wet," and it directed the issuance of the liquor license to the applicant. Appeal was taken by the temperance forces, however, and the supreme court now reverses the decision of the lower court.

The case demonstrates the further fact, also, that while option elections are not being called as numerous as was the case a few years ago in Indiana, the temperance forces evidently have no sort of idea of abandoning their fight, and the immediate program outlined is an attempt to have the county option plank engrafted into the republican platform in Indiana this year.

One feature of the campaign drift that can scarcely escape notice is the fact that as the Roosevelt stock appears to be rising among the republican voters, there is coming to the front the repeated prophecy that Mr. Bryan will be the ultimate choice of the Baltimore convention. That Mr. Bryan is still a commanding figure in the democratic party will be unanimously conceded. Defeats have failed to embitter him, and he is entitled to the full measure of satisfaction to be obtained in seeing Mr. Roosevelt apparently falling squarely in line with many of the ideas advanced by the Nebraskan years ago. It is unquestionably true, also, that as between Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Bryan, a good many of the president's supporters would vastly prefer the latter in the presidential chair.

When President Taft and Colonel Roosevelt really get to going good in this cheerful exchange of pleasantries, the immediate general public will doubtless have to do some lively dodging to avoid brick-bats.

THE COMPENSATION LAW OF THE TITANIC.

(Kansas City Star.)

The heirs of the dead men and women of the Titanic's crew will receive almost immediate money compensation because the White Star company, being a British corporation, is subject to the English Workmen's Compensation law. So the surviving seamen who were injured will receive similar automatic compensation for their injuries.

If the White Star line held a New York state charter, any compensation received would be at the end of long litigation—and the proceeds would be divided with damage suit lawyers. That is because the New York supreme court has held that a Workmen's Compensation act denies vested interest of its constitutional right to due process of law.

Light on what the present due process of law is in such cases comes appropriately from another sea disaster. In 1898 La Bourgogne foundered. In 1905 the resulting litigation ended with a judgment of the supreme court of the United States.

Workmen's compensation laws in all jurisdictions are one of the necessities of modern life. The United States supreme court has upheld such a federal law. State laws of the same nature have been sustained in Wisconsin and some other states. In Kansas the statute has not been attacked. The New York decision was one of a number of rulings by the federal court of appeals of New York which have pretty well paralyzed popular rule in that state.

It is to prevent this paralysis that Mr. Roosevelt has invoked the plan of the recall of political judicial decisions.

THE DES MOINES DEFENSE.

(Pittsburgh Dispatch.)

Country-wide comment on the retirement of three of the original members of the Des Moines city commission at the recent election and the regaining of control of the city by the political element construed this reversal as an illustration of the failure of the much advertised commission plan to perpetuate good government. Certain citizens of the Iowa city have strenuously protested against this interpretation, and the Short Ballot Bulletin asserts there

LETTER WAS TOO LATE

North Vernon, Ind., April 27.—The coincident arrival of a letter from John P. Quinn with the death of Zachariah Deputy, of near this city, has served to recall one of the boldest swindling games ever worked and one which aroused the entire state.

Quinn, living at Oil City, Pa., wrongfully served seven months as one of the swindlers, and his letter to Deputy asks that the latter give him a letter showing him innocent of any wrong-doing. Quinn wanted the certificate to answer a charge of having been a convict. He was pardoned by Governor Gray after his innocence was proven and became a leader in the crusade against vice in various sections of the country, but his prison record followed him wherever he went, and when he went into court in an attempt to obtain a conviction of men engaged in illegal practices, his prison record was used against him.

A letter telling of his wrongful conviction and of his pardon was sent to the Pennsylvania city.

Obtained $7,000.

The swindle game was worked by three notorious crooks, and was so bold that the entire state was aroused. During the early part of 1887 three men, afterward identified as Edward Rice, "Fatty" Stewart and "Punch" Mason, registered at the Snodgrass hotel. They became acquainted with Deputy, learned of his wealth and induced him to draw $7,000 from a bank at Seymour.

As he returned to this city the crooks met him on the highway. They asked that they be permitted to count the money, and two of them jumped into a waiting vehicle and escaped, while the third walked leisurely away. Deputy attempted to follow the men in the buggy, but soon gave it up. Then he announced that he would spend $5,000 to capture them. The men fled to Terre Haute and later escaped over the line into Canada.

In the meantime Quinn and two other men were arrested at Terre Haute, and charged with the crime. They were brought to this city for trial. They were confronted by Snodgrass, owner of the hotel, and his daughter, Blanche. They stated positively that the men who arrested were not the men who robbed Deputy. Notwithstanding this failure to identify the three men they were tried, convicted and sentenced to prison for 25 years each.

Real Swindlers Found and Escaped.

Deputy was not positive that the right men had been arrested, but it is stated that two detectives induced him to swear they were the men. Months afterward the real culprits were induced to enter the United States, and they were arrested at Detroit, returned to Brownstown, county seat of Jackson county, where they were positively identified by the Snodgrasses. They put up cash bond of $3,000 and immediately left town. An effort was made to arrest them again, but they were never taken for this crime. However, each was arrested for other crimes, and each served long terms.

At the end of seven months Governor Gray became convinced that the wrong men had been convicted and he granted them a free and full pardon. That has been a quarter of a century ago, yet Quinn's record still haunts him.

Miss Snodgrass saw the letter and she has done all she can to remove the stain from Quinn's name, that his last years may be free from the ghost of a bygone day.

GREAT WRITER IN JEOPARDY

Charles Dickens Once Threatened With Arrest for Attempting to Pass Counterfeit Money.

One night when Dickens had retired at Gad's Hill he found he could not sleep. So he got up, dressed and determined to walk to London, about thirty miles away. He reached the suburbs early in the morning and applied at an early coffee house for some refreshments. When he had finished he gave the proprietor a sovereign, the smallest coin he had with him.

"It's a bad un," said the man, biting at it and trying to twist it in all directions, "and I shall give you in charge."

The coin did have a suspicious look.

Dickens had carried some substance in his pocket which had oxidized it. Seeing that matters looked awkward, he said:

"But I am Charles Dickens!"

"Come, that won't do; any man could say he was Charles Dickens. How do I know?"

The man had been victimized a week previous and would take no more chances. At length Dickens suggested that they go to a chemist's and have the coin tested. A chemist was finally found when the shops had opened. The chemist immediately recognized the novelist, in spite of his dusty appearance, and the coffee house keeper was satisfactorily convinced that he had not been entertaining a confidence man.

Be A Perfect Man

With No Back Pains—No Nervousness—No loss of Ambition, But With Plenty of Life and Energy and the Vigor of Youth Restored.

To be strong and manly is the aim of every man, and yet how many we find who are wasting their vitality and strength which nature gives them. Instead of developing into the strong, vigorous, manly man that nature intended them to be, they find themselves broken down, and dependent—no ambition to do anything. They struggle aimlessly along, sooner or later to become victims of dreaded disorders, their finer sensibilities blunted and their nerves shattered.

Is This the Way You Feel? Do you feel tired in the morning and easily exhausted? Do you have difficulty in fixing your thoughts? Is your memory failing? Are you losing ambition? Do you feel you are not the man you once were? Do you have hot flashes up and down the spine or sudden weak spells at the base of the brain, sudden spells like fright from no apparent cause? Are you very restless or sleepless at night? Are you very nervous or irritable, with a feeling that you want to be alone? Are you gloomy with a sense of some great oppression upon you? If so, then you need my treatment now and I want you to call or write today. Don't delay. You surely do not want to remain in this condition. Don't suffer longer. I cure others. I can cure you. Master your disease before it masters you.

My Fees Are Within Reach of the Workingman

My price is always reasonable. I will give the POOREST man a chance as well as the RICH, to receive a cure from me at SMALL COST. There is no man too poor to get my advice free.

I Cure to Stay Cured Varicose Veins, Blood Disorders, Skin Disorders, Bladder and Kidney Ailments, Piles, Fistula, and all Special, Acute and Chronic Disorders of Men.

Free to Men A friendly heart-to-heart talk will COST YOU nothing. I have been lecturing on and treating disorders of men for many years. I have EXPERIENCE, that best of all teachers, the most thorough equipment and purest drugs that money can buy.

Honest Treatment I will use you honestly, treat you skillfully and cure you in the shortest possible time. I will positively guarantee to cure any case that I decide is curable or refund the fee. I know what I can do and have the courage of my opinion. I am willing to stake my reputation upon it.

Proofs Come and see me today, examine the living proofs that I have will cost you nothing and may mean a lifetime of health and happiness to you.

DON'T LET MONEY MATTERS OR MODESTY KEEP YOU FROM BEING CURED. CALL I DO NOT "PATCH UP." I CURE TO STAY CURED. DON'T DELAY. CALL OR WRITE TODAY. EVERYTHING CONFIDENTIAL.

Rev. Th. Wambaugss has been bedfast for almost two weeks with rheumatism. His complete recovery, however, is expected within a few days.

WILL DELIVER ADDRESS.

Mrs. C. O. Shirley to Speak to Sunday School Workers of City.

"The World in Cincinnati" will be the subject of Mrs. C. O. Shirley's address to be given before the graded union of Sunday school officers and teachers to be held at Plymouth church next Sunday at 3 p. m. Mrs. Shirley attended this great international missionary exposition and pageant, which was held during the month of March at Cincinnati, and her description of the exposition will be interesting.

Rev. C. A. Hirschman, of the Crescent Avenue Evangelical church, has the devotional period. After Mrs. Shirley's address the beginners and primary teachers will tell how they interest their pupils in hand work and will bring numerous models and drawings to illustrate the subject. Each junior teacher will tell her associates in that department "How I Prepare the Lesson." Miss Mary Biddle will give a short talk to intermediate workers and will lead in discussing methods in this important department of Sunday school work.

Every one not interested in other departments is invited to meet with Mr. J. E. Graham, who will give an exposition of the uniform lesson.

CLOSING NIGHT OF THE BAZAR

The Week's Pleasure Events of St. Andrew's Have Been Successful.

CONTEST RESULTS

The bazar which has been in progress all this week at the St. Andrew's Catholic church will close this evening, and the attendance is expected to be the largest of any of the six nights' series, many events of interesting having been arranged. The contests have attracted interest and they will close tonight. Some of them closed last night. In the doll contest the prize was awarded to Miss Marie Fenker. In the pony contest Emil Auer was the winner with 1455 votes; Joseph Goodman was a close second with 1433 votes and John Lophshire secured 1047 votes.

Considerable interest attaches to the diamond earrings tonight. The contestants are Miss Anna Fenker, Miss Ruth Doyle, Miss Calara Dietrich and Miss Margaret Bashara.

The attendance at the bazar during the week has been gratifying to the pastor, Rev. Geo. Horstman, and the membership of the church and they feel grateful for the favors extended. The indications are that the six nights' event will give them the church approximately $4000. This will be applied on the building and equipment fund of the splendid new church edifice the St. Andrew's parish has erected in the eastern part of the city, which is now nearly ready for dedication.

RESCUE HOME AND MISSION.

Services Held Tonight and Also on Sunday.

At the services tonight at the Rescue Home and Mission on East Columbia street the Young People's society of the Bethel Evangelical church will be present and participate in the exercises. The society's quartet will sing. There will be a song and praise service and the account of the conversion of Tim Comers will be read. It is also expected that Geo. I. Cooper, former superintendent, will be present and speak. The services for Sunday will be as follows: Sunday for Sunday will be as follows: Sunday school at 9:30 a. m.; J. M. Stuart, superintendent, will be present and sing. The Hirsans will sing "No Night There," and at 8:15 E. A. Hackett will speak on the subject, "Be Ready." A good, lively song service will take place at both of these services. Everybody invited.

IN THE PULPIT SUNDAY.

Prof. McCormick Will Speak at West Creighton Avenue Church.

The pulpit Sunday at the West Creighton Avenue Church of Christ will be occupied by Prof. Thos. McCormick, who will speak at both the morning and evening services. The day's meetings are as follows: Sunday school at 9:20 a. m.; communion service and sermon at 10:45 a. m.; Y. P. S. C. E. at 6:45 p. m.; Mattie Keeler, leader. Evening service at 7:45 p. m.

Observed Anniversary.

The second anniversary of the organization of the Ladies' Adult Bible class of the Crescent Avenue Evangelical church was very pleasantly observed by the holding of an elaborate banquet in the dining rooms of the church, a four-course menu being served. Mrs. C. Hossler gave the invocation, Mrs. Stehler rendered a piano selection, Mrs. Terhune a solo and Mrs. Campbell gave a reading, as did also Mrs. C. E. Boyer. The class history was read by Mrs. Humble and the class future told by Mrs. Ed Mertiz. A duet was sung by Mrs. Campbell and Mrs. Carrel and a sextette by Mesdames H. A. Gable, O. B. Moore, C. E. Boyer, M. A. Shets, D. Gehring and Mrs. Stophier.

Trinity M. E. Church.

Public worship at the Trinity M. E. church with sermons by the pastor, Rev. T. M. Hill, at 10:30 and 7:30. Themes as follows: "A Portrait of the Christ" and "The Unanswered Question." Sunday school 9:30. Junior league 2:30. Epworth league 6:30. George Mong, leader. Cordial welcome to strangers.

Local Union Meets.

The regular monthly meeting of the executive committee of the Local Union of Christian Endeavors will be held in the parlors of the Grace Reformed church next Tuesday evening, April 30th, at 6:30 o'clock sharp. At this time a luncheon will be served by the members of the Grace Reformed C. E. society. Plans will be laid at this meeting for the work to be done by the local Union up to the summer vacation.

First M. E. Church.

The morning sermon theme of Rev. D. H. Guild, the pastor, at the First M. E. church Sunday, will be "The Beautitudes," and in the evening, "The De-fest at Ar."

Christian Science.

First Church of Christ, Scientist, 916 Harrison street, a branch of the mother church in Boston, holds Sunday services at 10:30 a. m. and 8 p. m.; Sunday school at 11:40. Subject for tomorrow: "Probation After Death." Golden text: "We all, with open face beholding as in a glass the glory of the Lord, are changed into the same image from glory to glory, even as by the Spirit of the Lord." II Corinthians, 3:18.

Wednesday evening meeting in the church at 8 o'clock. The reading rooms at 816 and 817 Shoff building are open daily except Sunday, from 1 till 5, and on Saturday evening from 7 till 9.

Young Women's Christian Association.

SOCIETY

Were it not the entertaining done for the brides of early May, April would slip away so quietly that she would never be missed socially. In many respects the week has been remarkably quiet for such parties as have been given have not been large. The coming week will witness several young and interesting brides, though in no instance is there to be a large wedding.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Strieder, in Meyer avenue, was the scene of a happy gathering of relatives and near friends last evening, when a response to invitations about one hundred people gathered to honor the crystal wedding anniversary of the hosts. Music was furnished by a mandolin orchestra and delicious and refreshing things to eat and drink were served in the midst of an artistic arrangement by Miss Elsie of flowers and ferns. Mr. and Mrs. Strieder received their guests in the living room, where the mantle and book cases were banked with ferns and pink and yellow snapdragons and gladiolus blossoms. Red roses decorated the table in the dining room from which refreshments were served and at which Mrs. Pauline Paul and Miss Beuke presided. In the music room white roses and ferns formed a pretty contrast to the brighter colors of the other rooms. The Misses Marie Landenberger, Elsie and Clara Strieder served punch and Misses Olga Meyer, Helen Strieder and Lucella Paul assisted in serving other refreshments. Mrs. Herman Brauer, of Ann Arbor, and Mrs. Herman Siemon, of Grand Rapids, Mich., were among the out of town guests. Mrs. J. F. W. Meyer assisted in receiving the guests.

Miss Loretta Thwing, whose marriage to Charles Whitney will take place on Thursday at 5 o'clock, was the guest of honor at a very pretty party given yesterday afternoon by the Fortnightly five hundred club at the home of Mrs. Leon Yapp in Packard avenue. The dining room presented an attractive sight when the guests were served a luncheon for the table was decorated in pink curtains and small and with green candles in holders tied with bows of white tulle. A bouquet of pink roses at the place for the guest of honor added to the color scheme and made the bride-to-be look still more charming. Miss Ethel Whitney, of Panama, and Mrs. Roger Frisby, formerly of Fort Wayne but now living in Chicago, were visiting guests. Miss Thwing and Mr. Whitney will have only relatives and the most intimate friends at their wedding which is to be small. Rev. E. W. Averill will be the officiating clergyman. Miss Halie Thwing and Gordon Fox will be the attendants.

Miss Lucile Berout, of South Hanna street, entertained a few young women last evening and during the time announced the date of her wedding to Fred Tegtmeyer to be May 29. The announcement was made in tiny packages wrapped prettily in tissue paper and tied with pink ribbons. The decorations of the rooms were pink and white flowers and ferns. The guests present to offer Miss Berout congratulations and enjoy this good time were Misses Helen Harris, Edith Tegtmeyer, Frances Bran-ning, Clara Gladbach, Jessie Tegtmeyer and Julia Berout.

Miss Grace Jackson, of Chicago, is visiting relatives here for a week.

Mrs. Elmer Rauh, of Dayton, Ohio, is visiting her mother, Mrs. Ida Rothchild.

Miss Louise Guschung, of Gay street, is visiting her brother, W. J. Guschung, in Louisville, Ky.

Les Causeries du Mardi will meet Tuesday afternoon with Mrs. Barva, of Spy Run avenue.

Mrs. J. S. Bauerle, of Lincoln avenue, left today for Hamilton, Ohio, to visit friends and relatives.

Miss Bessie Hassler is in Grand Rapids, Mich., to spend the week end with her sister, Mrs. Turner.

Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Callahan, of East Taber street, left today for a two weeks' visit in New York.

Mrs. Herman Brauer and son, Roland, have returned to Ann Arbor, Mich., after a visit here with relatives.

Miss Adele Frankel, of Chicago, arrived in the city today to spend a week with her aunt, Mrs. Joseph Lohman. Mrs. Frankel will join her daughter next week.

Mrs. Seldon Morey was given a delightful surprise yesterday in celebration of her birthday anniversary by the members of a card club of neighboring friends, to which she belongs.

Dr. Charles Emerson, dean of Indiana University Medical college, will be a visitor in the city on Monday and will address the Fortnightly club and their friends on Monday evening on the subject of "Recent Advances in Medicine from a Sociological Standpoint." There will be no discussion.

Mr. and Mrs. Philip Bursley, who have been abroad for some months, are now in Naples and are to sail on the Carpathia when she reaches that port, for Gibraltar. About the middle of August Mr. and Mrs. Bursley will sail for home and they have engaged passage for that voyage on the Carpathia. Margaret H. Summers, of Lafayette street, celebrated her seventh birthday anniversary on Wednesday afternoon after school by having a little party of playmates enjoy a good time with her. A fine supper, a pretty looking cake with candles and other tempting good things helped the children have a good time.

A family reunion is being held today at the home of Mrs. S. F. Hines, of 628 West Creighton avenue. The guests are Mr. and Mrs. R. O. Hines and baby, of Waukegan, Ill.; Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Hines and baby, of Minneapolis; Mr. Hines and Mrs. H. H. Hines, of Washington, D. C.; and Dorsey Hines, of Detroit, Mich.

A surprise of last evening was enjoyed by the perpetrators of the affair as well as by the hostess, Mrs. John Landenberg, of Swinney park place. A company of friends and relatives gathered at the Landenberg home and spent a merry time. Those who participated were Mesdames L. Dornte, I. Schoppmaier, C. Becker, Emil Seest, Will Christ and Otto Landenberg and Misses Carrie Walda, Christine Walda and Marie Burns.

LATEST PARISIAN FASHIONS SHOW ODD DESIGNS

There is something about Parisian fashion which attract attention wherever they are seen. Illustrated are two gowns and two hats which show the Parisian touch admirably. In the center is seen a tailored costume for afternoon wear, with a little director's jacket. Blue taffeta shot with green goes to make up this gown and a chic little touch of red adds another distinctive touch. The other gown is also for afternoon wear. Taffeta capital again composes the costume, this time of a blue shade. A little tunic of pleated cream colored tulle is an original note in the gown. The two hats are the most popular models now seen in the French capital.

hours and dances, it is believed to be so.

The brunt of the dancing falls to the lot of eight girls and eight men with the balance of the chorus seated at tables. A delightful feature of the evening will be an incidental solo by Miss Florence Lang in the character of Ma-nuella, which is particularly well suited to her contralto voice.

A rehearsal of cast and chorus will be held tonight at the Elektron and every member of the company is expected to attend.

Aborn Company in "The Bohemian Girl"

A very satisfactory production of "The Bohemian Girl" was given at the Majestic theater last night by the Aborn Opera company who offer a "Revised and Modernized" performance of this old and still a favorite English opera. The company was large and capable with an excellent chorus and cast who always sang with a distinct idea of the musical requirements and with good intonation and enunciation. While there was no one of remarkable powers of voice in the company there was no part that suffered from a lack of either being well sung or well acted. The men's chorus was especially good and Miss Blanche Morrison as Arline, Miss Hattie Belle Ladd as the gypsy queen, Harry Luckstone as Count Arnheim, George Shields as Devilshoof, John R. Phillips as Thaddeus and Augustus Vaughan as Florestine, portrayed their parts and sang the famous airs, duets and quartets with very true appreciation of their worth. The favorite melodies, "The Heart Bowed Down" and "I Dreamt That I Dwelt in Marble Halls" were beautifully sung. As a production the modernized opera is on a big order. The carnival in the second act in which the whirlwind act by Hassan's Arabs occupies the stage for a few moments brought a storm of applause from the audience. The scene in the last act representing the "Dance of the Hours" from the opera "La Gioconda" was cleverly introduced and lent both beauty as well as a new interest to the opera, which was very thoroughly enjoyed by a large audience.

MRS. SUSAN ROTH, OF WEST MAIN STREET, CELEBRATES BIRTH ANNIVERSARY.

Seventy years have rolled away for Mrs. Susan Roth, of 507 West Main street, who celebrated the anniversary of her birth on Friday quietly at her home, in which she has lived for many years.

For forty-six years of her life Mrs. Roth, who was born in Bavaria, Germany, has lived in Fort Wayne; her marriage to the late Fred Roth, a well known business man, taking place a year after her arrival here. Although eight children were born to Mrs. Roth, four died in early childhood. There are living Mrs. William Scheibe, of Chicago; Ernest Roth and Miss Tillie Roth, of this city; Mrs. Edward F. Herringer and son, Roth, of Cincinnati. Both Mrs. Scheibe and Mrs. Herringer came home to visit their mother over the anniversary.

A family dinner party was held on Friday evening at the Roth home. Gifts of flowers contributed to the pleasure of Mrs. Roth and the dinner table was prettily decorated in carnations.

Mrs. Roth has long been a member of St. John's Reformed church and is always interested and active in the work of the parish. A great lover of home and family, Mrs. Roth is known best to

WITH THE STUDY CLUBS

The Nos Temps club will meet on Tuesday with Mrs. Pocock, 644 Kindnaird avenue. The program of study includes the topics, "Zanzibar and the Coast Lands" and "Ancient and Modern Abyssinia."

The Travel club will meet the coming week with Miss Jessie Palmer. "An Afternoon with the Dutch" and "Romances of the Year's Work" are to be the subjects for discussion.

The Fortnightly club will be guests of Mr. and Mrs. B. Paul Mossman on Monday evening to hear a lecture by Dr. Charles Emerson, of Indianapolis.

The Nineteenth Century club will meet on Tuesday with Miss Lavon Sperry. "Old Players" will be the subject for the afternoon. Mrs. Peter Pickard has charge of the program.

The Book Reviewers will meet on Tuesday with Mrs. John A. Thime. Mrs. W. H. Rohan has charge of the program.

The Saturday club will meet on Monday with Mrs. Ed Miller, of Spy Run avenue. Mrs. M. B. Fisher will discuss the play, "Kindling," in which Margaret Illington and notable company was recently seen at the Majestic.

The Woman's League will hold its annual election of officers and hear reports from all departments of the league for the year next Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, in the public library. All members of the league are especially requested to be present and the public is also invited.

The Thursday Afternoon Shakespeare club will meet next Thursday with Mrs. Walter Leonard, 1225 West Wayne street. Shakespeare's successors, actors and dramatists and a reading from "Merry Wives of Windsor" are the subjects.

TO REMOVE INK STAINS.

Ink stains should be treated as quickly as possible before the ink has had time to set. While fresh pour over the stain a quantity of salt, dry starch and other absorbents and brush it away as it absorbs the ink. Keep the spot wet and keep applying the absorbent until the stains come out. Another treatment is to wash the stains with sour milk and let them soak over night.

If the stains have been allowed to dry before the removal process is begun the task will be more difficult. Apply either salts of lemon, cream of tartar, citric acid, oxalic acid, lemon juice or chloride of lime. Whichever one of these is applied the spot must be thoroughly rinsed afterward in clear water.

TO DYE A STRAW HAT.

There are two ways of dyeing a straw hat black. The first is to purchase a good dye from any drug store, make the solution according to directions, then plunge the hat into it, allowing the hat to dry thoroughly. Then press into shape with a hot iron.

The second is to purchase a tube of black paint, dilute it with turpentine into a very thin solution, then take a brush and paint the hat.

Sponge Cake.

From a medium sized lemon grate the rind and add to it one tablespoonful of the juice. Mix together one pint of sifted pastry flour, one-quarter of a teaspoonful of salt and one teaspoonful of baking powder. Separate the whites and yolks of six eggs, dropping the yolks into the mixer bowl. Into a saucepan put one cupful and a half of granulated sugar, add one-quarter of a cupful of boiling water, stir over the fire until the sugar is dissolved, then boil for one minute. Have the yolks beaten until very thick and light colored. Slowly pour over them the boiling syrup, beating fast and continue the beating until the mixture is cold and very thick and spongy; this may be hastened by standing the bowl in a pan of cold water. Add a part of the mixed flour, then the lemon, then half of the whites, which have been whipped to a very stiff, dry froth, then the remainder of the flour and the whites. Mix very lightly with a cutting motion, turn into a shallow pan lined with buttered paper and bake in a moderate oven.

Rhubarb Jelly.

Rhubarb can be quickly converted into a delightful dessert. Wash and cut in inch pieces without skinning. To each quart add a pint of water and boil gently until it is a mush. Strain without pressure through two thicknesses of cheese cloth. Reheat and make very sweet. Measure for a pint and a half and add a generous half package of granulated gelatine in a half cupful of cold water. When softened add the hot rhubarb, stir until dissolved and pour into wetted molds. Serve this with cream.

CONCERT OF CHAMBER MUSIC

Bailhe Trio to Be Heard at Elks Hall on Tuesday Evening.

The second of the chamber music subscribed concerts given by the Bailhe Trio, will be heard on Monday evening in Elks' hall. The program will begin at 8:15 o'clock. Assisting the Trio, who are George Bailhe, piano; Gaston Bailhe, violin; and Nicolai Zedeler, cello, will be Miss Edith Nickell, soprano, and Miss Helene Spindler, accompanist. The demand for seats at the first of this series of concerts and the very decided expression of appreciation during the program indicates the desire of music loving people to hear the finest form of music there is. Such was the reverence of the great master, Beethoven, for this style of musical composition that he devoted the last three years of his life almost exclusively to its composition. A program of great beauty has been arranged for and the programs will also contain brief notes of explanation of the numbers for the Trio. The program:

"THE ROMANY MAID"

Principals and Chorus Holding Daily Rehearsals for New Opera.

"O, we sing and we dance the Bolero As they sing it and dance it in Spain. There is naught so entrancing as music and dancing To drive out all sorrow and sadness and pain."

So runs the beginning of the opening chorus of the new Apollo club opera now being rehearsed for its premiere at the Majestic in the middle of May. The big chorus, having already learned the music, is now in the hands of George Herberl, the famous producer, and is being put through its paces very systematically four nights a week. The mildly interested auditor at a musical show would be surprised at least to know the amount of hard work expended upon a single dance which may occupy but a minute. When it is considered that the whole chorus is completely filled with dancers, motion and continuous change, one realizes what it means to produce an opera. Last year Mr. Herberl thought the opening chorus of "The Red Letter" might be too long, but when the audience interrupted it three times and demanded an encore, he confessed his error. He said last night that the opening of "The Romany Maid" should be even more attractive and with the Spanish stage setting and the gay costuming, tan-

BEAUTIFICATION OF FORT WAYNE STREETS BY PROPERLY PLANTED TREES

BY CARL J. GETZ, City Forester.

Some Fort Wayne Examples of What Not to Do in Tree Planting and Tree Pruning—And One Commendable Instance.

Every true citizen of Fort Wayne desires beautiful shade trees to grace the streets and his home. The trees along the streets and in the parks are of prime importance to city beautification. The citizens of Fort Wayne have demonstrated that they want good street trees and that they care for them properly. Every day the city forester is besieged with inquiries and demands for his services upon street and private trees. They demand first class, intelligent work in preference to the poor work offered so cheaply by the tree butchers. While good, intelligent work costs a little more in the first place, it is cheaper in the end.

Department Knows How.

The city forestry department of the board of park commissioners knows how to care for trees. It takes no chances with a tree. No maple tree has been or will be pruned in April. At this period of the year the sap pressure is high and any cut in the tree at that time will produce bleeding, which greatly weakens the tree. All wounds are disinfected to expel insects and disease. Where large cuts are made, the cuts are disinfected and then covered with zinc caps to keep out disease caused by the cut cracks drying. In fact the tree is safe-guarded in every possible manner.

If a tree is infected with San Jose or other scale, it is sprayed very thoroughly with a high pressure power sprayer to keep the scale pest in check. If a tree has a diseased spot or cavity the diseased wood is removed and tree surgery is employed to preserve the tree. If a tree lacks nourishment, proper remedial measures will be employed so that it receives its requisite amount of moisture.

Job is a Big One.

Taken as a whole it is a very large task and one man alone cannot possibly make it a success. Every citizen, whether tree owner or not, enjoys the beauty of the city trees and should cooperate with the city forester in making Fort Wayne Indiana's most beautiful city.

Violations of the shade tree ordinance should be reported at once and tree butchery looked upon as a serious crime. Every citizen is earnestly invited to take an active part in the present street beautification and the extent of his usefulness depends upon himself.

Next to the earth itself the tree is the most useful servant of man. It matters not where it may be located. In the forests it sustains and regulates streams, moderates winds, supplies wood and other useful supplies; in the city it acts to purify the atmosphere, regulate temperature, moderate winds and beautifies the streets and the parks.

Are these tree utilities not of sufficient importance to demand of the tree its utmost efficiency? Efficiency is the keynote to every modern undertaking and should also be the prime desire in the case of city trees.

Efficiency of Fort Wayne Trees.

Have you ever figured the efficiency of the trees of Fort Wayne in their present conditions? As you pass through the streets notice them very closely. We all wish to improve the street tree and make it beautiful. The only way this can be accomplished is to co-operate with the city forestry department before attempting uncertain tree operations. If you do not know, ask us.

The accompanying illustrations were taken at random and were not taken with the purpose of criticizing the owner thereof. The sole purpose of these pictures are educational and to correct defects.

What the Pictures Show.

No. 1 represents perhaps the greatest fault in the modern city tree planting scheme. The tree is only six inches from the telephone post, one and one-half feet from the corner curb, while the parking strip is about two feet wide.

A tree should never be planted in a parking strip less than three and one-half to four feet in width. The wider the parking strip between the sidewalk and the curb, the more successful will be your tree growth.

No. 2 shows the solution of this problem. If one has to contend with a narrow parking strip, plant the trees between the sidewalk and the house; the effect is beautiful and the trees as a rule will always do well when planted in that position.

Always Kills the Tree.

Very often a tree interferes with the telephone or electric wires and a tree butcher is called to the rescue by the operating company and prunes the tree free of charge. No. 3 illustrates this case very plainly. It is a dangerous practice and kills the tree in every instance. No tree will stand such abuse. The tree is so weakened that it cannot expel insects or disease and the ultimate end will result in an eye sore, as indicated by No. 4.

Diseased trees of this kind, which are beyond tree surgery redemption, should be removed to prevent a spread of the disease. Wherever a dead or a diseased tree which is beyond recovery is encountered, the neighbors should insist that that tree be promptly removed.

Gallant Effort to Save.

No. 5 represents a gallant effort to save a beautiful large Elm and great credit should be given to the owner, as well as the individual, who executed the work. This tree was split by the wind at one time and remedial measures were employed to save it.

Tree surgery is an art and must be learned by practice. While it is somewhat costly it is worth every cent it costs. No value could be placed on a beautiful specimen as shown in No. 5. It required about 150 years to produce it and is worth preserving for our future generations. The forestry department has experienced tree surgeons on its force and will come to the rescue of these fine old trees upon application to the board of park commissioners' office, city hall.

What Tree to Plant.

As a rule the intention of every citizen who shows enough interest to plant a tree, even the wrong kind or in the wrong place, is deserving a great deal of credit. For those who do not know what to plant, this paragraph will prove a source of information.

The selection of a tree is a most important essential and generally overlooked. "Any old tree" will not do if planted. As a rule "any old tree" costs as much as an A No. 1 tree. Why not plant the right species?

Tried and Proven Species.

The tried and proven species which have given the most abundant and efficient results are as follows, in order of their importance: The Norway maple, hard maple, oriental sycamore, pin, scarlet and red oak, European ash, gingko, female alanthus, sweet gum and European elm.

The species which are to be avoided and not planted along the streets are the common Carolina poplar, Lombardy poplar, Catalpa, soft maple and all nut-bearing trees. The list of approved trees is large and there is now no good reason why a tree from the second list should be employed. The Norway maple, oriental sycamore and pin oak are specially recommended. They are long lived, fairly rapid growers, give abundant shade, require very little pruning and in general are most efficient.

Specification of Tree.

Having determined the kind of tree to plant, now let us consider the specification of the tree. It should not be too large or too small. A good tree should be from one and three-fourths to three inches in diameter, should have a straight leader and a compact and fibrous root system developed by a series of re-plantings in the nursery. Never cut the leader off before planting. This is invariably the first cut made by the amateur forester. Cut the side branches well back to balance the top to give the tree a good start.

Now let us plant this tree. The tree should be planted while dormant, either late fall or early spring. Never attempt to plant a tree when leaves are developed, for failure will result. Now dig a hole, placing the soil to a depth of one foot to one side to be placed in the bottom of the hole next to the roots. Then dig down about three feet more and if this soil is very impervious, dry or hard pan, replace it with a load of top soil and well rotted manure. Do not use green manure, for it will burn the fine root hairs.

Plant the tree one and one-half inches deeper than its planting depth in the nursery, working some fine soil about the roots, adding a little water and work the tree up and down so that the soil will be finely packed about the roots and root-hairs. Continue this until the operation is complete. Then stake the tree with a two and one-half to three inch pole placed on the south-west side of tree. (direction of prevailing winds), and tie the tree to this stake support with a rope. Then place a guard, preferably one-fourth galvanized, one-fourth inch square wire mesh and about six to seven feet high, about the tree. Place old garden hose about the top and bottom of guard to prevent injury from guard to tree. A tree planted in this manner will grow and develop maximum efficiency.

To Insure Uniformity.

To insure uniformity and greatest success plant the trees in straight rows, the trees being 30 to 35 feet

$3.50 Receipt Free, For Weak Men.

Send Name and Address Today—You Can Have It Free and Be Strong and Vigorous.

I have in my possession a prescription for nervous debility, lack of vigor, weakened manhood, falling memory and lame back, brought on by excesses, unnatural drains, or the follies of youth, that has cured so many worn and nervous men right in their own homes—without any additional help or medicine—that I think every man who wishes to regain his manly power and virility, quickly and quietly, should have a copy. So I have determined to send a copy of the prescription free of charge, in a plain, ordinary sealed envelope to any man who will write for it.

This prescription comes from a physician who has made a special study of men and I am convinced it is the surest-acting combination for the cure of debilitated manhood and vigor failure ever put together. I think I owe it to my fellow man to send them a copy in confidence so that any man anywhere who is weak and discouraged with repeated failures may stop dragging himself with harmful patent medicines, secure what I believe is the quickest-acting restorative, upbuilding, SPOT-TOUCHING remedy ever devised, and so cure himself at home quietly and quickly. Just drop me a line like this: Dr. A. E. Robinson, 3655 Luck Building, Detroit, Mich. and I will send you a copy of this splendid recipe in a plain ordinary envelope free of charge. A great many doctors would charge $2.00 to $5.00 for merely writing out a prescription like this—but I send it entirely free.

HAPPY, LAUGHING CHILD SHORTLY

If cross, feverish, bilious and sick, give delicious "Syrup of Figs."

No matter what ails your child, a gentle, thorough laxative physic should always be the first treatment given. If your child isn't feeling well, resting nicely, eating regularly and acting naturally it is a sure sign that it's little stomach, liver and bowels are clogged with waste matter and need a gentle, thorough cleansing at once.

When cross, irritable, feverish, stomach sour, breath bad or your little one has stomach-ache, diarrhoea, sore throat, full of cold, tongue coated; give a teaspoonful of Syrup of Figs and in a few hours all the clogged up waste, undigested food and sour bile will gently move on and out of its little bowels without nausea, griping or weakness, and you will surely have a well, happy and smiling child again shortly.

With Syrup of Figs you are not drugging your children, being composed entirely of luscious figs, senna and aromatics it cannot be harmful, besides they dearly love its delicious fig taste. Mothers should always keep Syrup of Figs handy. It is the only stomach, liver and bowel cleanser and regulator needed—a little given today will save a sick child tomorrow.

Full directions for children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly printed on the package.

As your druggists for the full name, "Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna," prepared by the California Fig Syrup Co. This is the delicious tasting, genuine old reliable. Refuse anything else offered.

SHAUGHNESSY IS ENJOYING VISIT

Fort Wayne Manager Meets His Old Friends at South Bend.

WANTS TWO VICTORIES

(Special to The Sentinel.)
South Bend, Ind., April 27.—Manager Frank J. Shaughnessy, who arrived here last night with the members of the Fort Wayne team, spent most of the day reviewing acquaintances formed while he was a student at Notre Dame university and when he played ball with the South Bend club after he left school.

He is popular here and he expects to spend part of his time at the university, having never visited the institution since he left to become a lawyer. He gave up the law after he found that there was more profit, quicker returns and more fun playing baseball.

Since the South Bend club fell into the hands of a stock company, the old rivalry with Fort Wayne has been renewed. The patrons here have never recovered from the ill feeling caused by the change of ownership. The club last year stole the only pennant that South Bend ever had, and the presence of the men of the Billiken outfit has revived that old fighting spirit and it may be a source of profit, as the attendance on Sunday will probably be increased by the fact that the ancient enemy of the Greenstockings is in camp and that it is under the care of a former player in the local ranks.

There have been some disappointments because the club last year stole the pennant on the home lot, but Manager Harry Arndt announced when he took hold of the club that he could not be expected to go out and pick up the pennant with the pennant right off the reel. He had absolutely nothing to start with but a franchise and has been compelled to recruit as best he could.

He worked under the additional handicap of never having played in the Central league and was without any personal knowledge of the playing strength of the clubs he will have to meet in his battle this season.

South Bend's baseball public is unfortunately made up of people who refuse to attend the games played by a losing team and who do not patronize a winning team as liberally as might be expected in a city of this size.

Members of the company at the head of the team this season took up the matter from a business standpoint and are calling upon the civic pride of the citizens to give the team the financial and moral support it needs for a successful season.

When the club went to the park this afternoon Manager Shaughnessy had not decided upon who would pitch for his club, although Beiersdorfer had the call. The pride of Beiersdorfer has been to place his line on exhibition ever since the season opened on Wednesday, but he was held in check while the right handers were on exhibition. If he warms up right, the manager will let him be unleashed and sent after the Greens.

Manager Shaughnessy wants two of the three games here and if the local club puts up no better ball against the Billiken than it did against Terre Haute it will be easy to get them. He would like to return from his first trip with three out of five and the fact that he has broken even with the champions of last season on their own grounds is a source of great satisfaction to him.

COUNTED ON FOUR MEN.

Grant's Team Not as Strong as if They Had Reported to Him.

Aggie Grant's team is not as strong as he expected to put in the field for the reason that four men he had counted on failed to report. Steve Rogers has not recovered from the effects of his injured ankle. Johnny Nease quit the game. Bill became ill and could not report and Tony Walsh was awarded to the Chicago team, which sent him to St. Paul.

FIRST SHIFT OF PRESENT SEASON

Clubs Move After Three Days of Play and Start All Over.

WHEELING DOING FINE

On the first shift of the Central league season of 1912 the Fort Wayne club jumped to South Bend, the Grand Rapids club to Dayton, the Terre Haute team to Springfield, Wheeling to Zanesville, Erie to Akron and Youngstown to Canton.

In the series that closed with the games of yesterday the Wheeling club showed strength enough to lick Akron twice in three days, and as the beaten club won the championship in the C. L. league last year, it is probable that Manager Edward J. Anderson has developed a team that will be found working right up in the race.

He is taking his first flight as an owner and manager and his friends are pulling for him to make a success, as he has always been a hardworking player.

Grand Rapids had an even break with Springfield. Terre Haute took two from South Bend. Erie bested Canton two in three. Youngstown licked Zanesville in the only two games played.

In addition to the postponement at Dayton yesterday rain prevented the games scheduled at Zanesville and Springfield, and three of the six were staged.

THE SAME OLD STORY.
McFarland Had His Man Going All Through the Mill, But—

Jacker McFarland gave Matt Wells an awful beating in his battle at Madison Square Garden in New York last night, but he failed to land a punch with enough steam behind it to stop the sturdy Briton. This is the history of most of the Chicago lad's ring engagements.

When the gates opened there were 10,000 people in the arena to see the bout and the gate receipts amounted to $30,000, of which McFarland gets $10,000. This does not include the moving picture sale which will be large as the pictures were easily taken.

ED PFEFFER VERY ILL.

Wichita, Kan., April 27.—Pitcher Ed Pfeffer of the Denver Western league team, is in the St. Francis hospital here suffering from blood poisoning. His condition is serious and he is expected to die.

Wayne team of the Central league last season.

In these days, he replied that he couldn't think of it; that he had several offers of $200, but that he would really like to play for my team—he had heard so much that was nice about me. Hence, if I would make it $150, advance him $100, and send him railroad fare from Chicago to St. Paul, he would report without delay.

"I fell with sudden speed, sent him the contract and sent him the $100. True to his word, he showed up two days later—a white-faced, red-faced, husky Swede—and I was glad to note his general countenance. He looked like a born batsman and a speedy runner. He ate at the hotel on me for ten days, and then the team was ready for its initial practice. I assembled them at the ball yard and deputized Mr. Erickson as first batsman, with a recruit pitcher on the slab. Mr. Erickson hit vaguely at the ball; it bounced off the bat and rolled across the infield. He remained stationary at the plate.

"Run, Erickson, run," I yelled. He woke up and ran. Ran, toward third base instead of first. I stood looking at him a minute, and then a dreadful suspicion came over me. I walked over to him and said, "Say, tell the truth, I demanded, 'did you ever play ball before?'"

"Never, Meester Ramsick," he replied.

"Then, what the—, who—how?" I spluttered.

"Aye, tell you de truth," said Mr. Erickson. "Aye wanted to come south, and Aye had no de money. So Aye got into frand of mine, he write letter, and fix it so you shall send da money to me. Dat frand all. Aye out had to come south, and dat bane de only way it could have done."

"And what could I do? The law wouldn't let me kill him, and, besides, he was a much larger man than I."

POTTERS IN HARD LUCK.

Zanesville, O., April 27.—Third Baseman Jack Penderly will be kept out of the game possibly ten days by the "charley horse" which he sprang in Thursday's game. Manager Kelley has several displaced muscles in his right shoulder and he will be unable to play until after "Bonesetter" Reese of Youngstown has worked on the injury. Kelley will see Reese when the team plays in Youngstown next week.

He is trying to land Second Baseman Sandy Murray, in order that the hole in the infield may be plugged up.

Failing to land Murray, the manager will use Blake at third, Grogan at second and probably Rogers in center field. Kelley dislikes to put Rogers in the outfield, as he wants the pitcher to use in one of the games against Wheeling. Seven of the Smokes hit from the left side of the bat.

TRY IT AGAIN IN MAY.

Although the support given the last card put on at Princess rink by the Summit Athletic club was not a very profitable undertaking, another match will be staged on May 22.

ONLY TWO STUCK STOGIE PLAYERS FOR 14 SEASONS HELP AT CANTON

Robbins and Cleary Start on Fifteenth Year With the Club. Byrnes and King Regarded as High Class Men for the Chinks.

SCHEDULE TO START LALLIER HAS GONE

When the Fort Wayne Shamrocks open their fifteenth season at League park tomorrow afternoon with Huntington as the opposing team, two of the members of the organization will start on their fifteenth consecutive year as members of a team that probably has a history unequalled in semi-professional ball.

Mart Cleary, manager, and Vince Robbins, pitcher, joined the club when it was first organized and they have been members ever since and during that time they have played a variety of baseball that has taken them into all the towns surrounding Fort Wayne and to Chicago, Detroit, Cincinnati and Indianapolis and, although the club has passed through some scant years the majority of them have been successful and the play has been a source of profit and pleasure for the players who have come and gone.

Jack Smith is next oldest in point of service and Frank "Monte" Hoffer has enjoyed a long career as the regular catcher of the club.

In the history of the club a great many players have graduated from the ranks and have taken conspicuous places in baseball and the team has been the training school for some of the best talent that has entered the national game as a means of livelihood.

Manager Haman says he has the best club that has represented Huntington in many years and the men he has retained have been selected from a training squad of twenty-four aspirants who reported to him when the spring work was taken up. He has promised to bring along some new and fifty uniforms that have been issued to the players and he believes that his squad will make a good appearance in addition to playing a good article of ball.

Huntington has a regular professional club and was picked for the opening because it is the best of the clubs available for the game.

Play will be started at 3 o'clock and ladies will be admitted free. The teams will line up as follows:

Huntington.	Positions.	Shamrocks.
Buehler	Short	Walda
Haman	First	Feeling
Marley	Second	Seacore
Middleton	Third	Weberus
Stonebraker	Left	Smith
Guthrie	Center	Long
Wendert	Right	Houlihan

In their opening game at Kendallville tomorrow the Wayne Knights will play a practice game with the student team. The clubs will line up as follows: Wayne Knights—Smith or Bowman, catcher; Rainey or Blaker, pitcher; Bartels, first; Meiser, second; Carr, short; Weberus, third; Welchman, left; C. McKee, center; Watt, right; Pressler, utility; Concordia—Weinhold, catcher; Eise, pitcher; Zaneris; first; H. Claus, second; Wilson, short; Wambagans, third; H. Columbia City is trying to get hold of George Hamilton of the Western Gas Construction company, to catch for the Grays this season. He has an agreement with Waterloo for the season.

The Aces will play the Stockyards Stars tomorrow with the following line-up: A. Billey, second; B. J. Schwalm, right field; F. Fisel, center field; E. Lotz, shortstop; F. Humberch, pitcher; T. F. Fisel, first base; F. Hattendorf, third base; H. Rbel, catcher; C. Schalm, left field. The Aces would like to hear from other teams of the city.

SWEDE WORKED ASTUTE MANAGER

"I don't often get stung good and deep," said Ed Ramsick, long famous as a minor league manager. "For I have been a baseball manager for many many years. Usually, I can tell 'em when I see 'em, and spot 'em when they write. For phones can get by me—but the wisest of us get stung occasionally, and I was stung by an innocent Swede when it was my turn to be the goat. The memory is a bitter one—but perhaps 'twas coming to me."

A few years ago I had the Charleston club, and the South Carolina sentiment hinted, during the off season that I ought to strengthen up. They suggested that I get good players, and, if need be, forget the salary limit—expense would be no object. Hence, I cast my nets afar, and the live wires began to report by every mail.

One morning in came a letter from a gentleman to me—his name was Erickson; his residence was Chicago, and his history was all to the Tynus Cobb. He explained that he had, for four years, been the most renowned of all the semi-professionists that the Boston Nationals had him on their reserve list, but that he had for two years refused to be farmed out to any of the minor leagues. Now, this letter went on, he had settled all his differences with the Boston people; they had notified him that he was a free agent and he would like to sign up with some good minor league team, as needed practice previous to returning to the faster company.

"The letter looked good, extremely good, and I wrote him, telling him that I would be glad to have him report. I also offered him a salary of $125 a month, which was about as high as I was going for anybody."

"I fell with sudden speed, sent him the contract and sent him the $100. True to his word, he showed up two days later—a white-faced, red-faced, husky Swede—and I was glad to note his general countenance. He looked like a born batsman and a speedy runner. He ate at the hotel on me for ten days, and then the team was ready for its initial practice. I assembled them at the ball yard and deputized Mr. Erickson as first batsman, with a recruit pitcher on the slab. Mr. Erickson hit vaguely at the ball; it bounced off the bat and rolled across the infield. He remained stationary at the plate.

"Run, Erickson, run," I yelled. He woke up and ran. Ran, toward third base instead of first. I stood looking at him a minute, and then a dreadful suspicion came over me. I walked over to him and said, "Say, tell the truth, I demanded, 'did you ever play ball before?'"

"Never, Meester Ramsick," he replied.

"Then, what the—, who—how?" I spluttered.

"Aye, tell you de truth," said Mr. Erickson. "Aye wanted to come south, and Aye had no de money. So Aye got into frand of mine, he write letter, and fix it so you shall send da money to me. Dat frand all. Aye out had to come south, and dat bane de only way it could have done."

"And what could I do? The law wouldn't let me kill him, and, besides, he was a much larger man than I."

FORT WAYNE MYSTIC SHRINERS LEAVE WEDNESDAY FOR LOS ANGELES

FAMOUS PATROL OF MIZPAH TEMPLE CROSSING THE HOT SANDS.

Thousands of pilgrims from all parts of the country will join the caravan next week leading to Los Angeles, which for several days will be the mecca of all shrinedom. Leading men of the United States, men whose names have been shouted from one end of the world to the other, will with one accord bow low before the altar of Al Malaikah shrine for the thirty-eighth annual session of the imperial council, A. A. O. N. M. S., and among the principal representatives who will journey across the hot sands of the desert, so to speak, will be many members of Mizpah temple, of Fort Wayne.

Mizpah temple has completed arrangements for a handsome private special train from Fort Wayne to Los Angeles for the occasion and local shriners will be present at the convention of the council from May 6 to 11. The train will leave Fort Wayne at 2 o'clock on the afternoon of May 1 over the Nickel Plate railroad. The entire trip will cover eighteen days. All arrangements for the trip were made by a transportation committee from the Shriner composed of Messrs. Charles E. Reed, Arthur F. Hall, J. M. Henry and J. M. Kuhns.

Official Representatives.
The local shrine will be represented officially by four appointed delegates. Messrs. E. H. Merritt, illustrious potentate; Walter E. Cook, Charles E. Read and A. F. Hall. The Arab patrol, under the direction of Captain E. H. Kilbourne and the Nomad band, directed by John L. Verweire, will lead the delegation and has been selected to participate in the actual program of the imperial council meeting.

Out of nearly one hundred shrine patrols that will attend the session, the patrol from Mizpah has been selected as one with ten others to give special exhibition drills during the meeting at the Theater Beautiful at Los Angeles. This honor was conferred by Motley H. Flint, of Los Angeles, chairman of the executive committee. It is one of the big honors of the meeting and not only to the shrine, but to Fort Wayne, whose name will be mentioned prominently in the beautiful western metropolis. The selection was made on point of merit.

Mizpah temple has been exceedingly fortunate in having such an excellent patrol and band, which in the past have not only added splendor and effectiveness to the ceremonial sessions, but have attracted favorable attention to the local temple and to Fort Wayne. In connection with the Nomad band the patrol was much in evidence at the last imperial council meeting held at Rochester, N. Y., but plans have been perfected more thoroughly this year and under the careful direction of Captain Kilbourne, the members have perfected new drills, among them being one with more than a hundred movements without the need of a single command. This is the famous silent drill, a portion of which was given during the Shrine entertainments last winter at the Majestic theater.

When on next Wednesday the local Shriner leave the Scottish Rite cathedral the shrine patrol and band, in complete regalia, will march to the depot and on the way will pause long enough to exemplify in the street some of the new drills to be staged before the imperial gathering later.

Leave in Style.
True to the saying, the pilgrims will cross the hot sands. They will make the pilgrimage as of old, across the burning sands (of America's desert,) but not in like manner adopted in the olden days when the journey was made on foot and occupied several weeks' time. Mizpah temple nobles will cross the great plains in style fitting to this twentieth century progressiveness. In a special coach the train will fly through the great west, stopping at the places of interest long enough to make the journey of unlimited interest, even to those who in previous years have visited the same territory.

The special will leave over the Nickel Plate at 2 o'clock, and after dinner, which will be enjoyed in Chicago, the train will be switched to the Santa Fe road for the journey into the southwest.

Feature at Albuquerque.
The Mizpah band and patrol will play its first scheduled "stunt" at Albuquerque, N. M., which place it reaches at noon on May 3. The patrol, for various reasons, has in its possession Mexican uniforms. These will be taken on the trip, and when the New Mexican city is reached, Mizpah patrol, fully attired as full-blooded Mexicans, will leave the special and headed by the Nomad band, parade the streets of the city for a short time. The travelers will enjoy dinner at Albuquerque, leaving there at 1:25 o'clock Friday afternoon.

The special will reach Los Angeles at 8:45 p. m. Sunday, and local Shriner will remain there until Friday morning, May 11.

The Return Trip.
The nobles will be given a glimpse of the scenery along the western slope of the Sierras on the journey from Los Angeles to San Francisco. Here they will again face the rising sun and will start the return trip from Oakland Sunday evening over the Western Pacific railway. The route passes through the great San Joaquin and Sacramento valleys. On entering Utah the train will pass through the extreme west end of the great American desert and then on to Salt Lake City, made famous by the Mormons. A short stop will be made at Glenwood Falls, giving opportunity for the tourists to visit the famous sulphur springs. The journey continues and on May 15 the train reaches Colorado Springs, where an entire day will be spent. After visiting Denver and other important points the train will reach Chicago Sunday morning, May 19, and will arrive in Fort Wayne at 3 o'clock in the afternoon of that day.

The trip is one of the most interesting, from a scenic viewpoint, that could well be arranged. From start to finish the route covers 5,750 miles and touches twelve states. The beauties of every season of the year are seen while passing through the low and high lands—from flowers to snowfalls, as it were. Considering the advantage of having relatives and friends on the journey, the trip promises to be one of joyfulness, with good-fellowship reigning supreme.

New Uniforms.
The new uniforms of the patrol will be used for the first time. The patrol will act as escort to the illustrious potentate, representatives and staff, with nobles, relatives and friends, and will be personal escort of the illustrious imperial potentate and staff in the grand parades during and preceding the sessions of the imperial council session.

Officers of the patrol are:
President—Albert S. Bond.
Vice president—Charles Gumpfer.

Secretary—J. M. Kuhns.
Treasurer—F. S. Rouzer.
Captain—E. H. Kilbourne.
First lieutenant—H. A. Jones.
Second lieutenant—Fred H. Ash.
First sergeant—R. B. Garmire.
Second sergeant—George Waldschmidt.
The patrol members are: J. W. Autenrieth, Mont Beaver, Oscar Brokaw, Frank Cook, G. R. Courter, Axel Youngmarker, F. W. Pifer, N. W. Wester, L. L. Gardner, George Thomas, Bert J. Mills, S. W. Newell, Chester L. Schiefer, K. L. Seaman, Bryon H. Somers, Arnold R. Treesolt, R. S. Viberg, E. W. Wagner, Frank R. Dulin, Harry Fletcher, R. B. Garmire, J. M. Kuhns, H. L. Miller, I. L. Walker, Ralph Wilkening, George Gillie, W. O. Taylor and John Kretzing.

The Nomad Band.
Mizpah's Nomad band is composed of the following: John L. Verweire, R. Parks White, William Hiestand, L. M. Fuller, P. L. Ashbaugh, Carl Schroeder, G. M. Leslie, R. W. E. Sperry, R. C. Schlatter, Frank Green, L. C. Schroeder, B. W. Hamey, Richard Ball, J. M. Henry, C. D. Wheeler, Harry Hanterslev.

C. E. Barlett, J. W. Thompson, A. A. Stenz, Earl Waterman, Charles King and Brown Cooper.

The Imperial Program.
The complete program for the imperial council session follows:
Saturday, May 4.—Arrival of the delegations and special trains, and escort to the hotels. Evening—First illumination of the magnificent electrical display, both on the streets and buildings.

Sunday, May 5.—Automobile ride to the visiting Shriner and their ladies around Los Angeles in order that they may have a proper conception of the wonderful growth of our city.

Monday, May 6.—Pasadena day.—Visit to Cawston ostrich farm and splendid entertainment provided by the city of Pasadena, under charge of Dr. F. C. E. Mattison, chairman. Evening—receptions at all principal hotels.

Tuesday, May 7, 10 a. m.—Escort by Arab patrols and shrine bands to the imperial potentate, imperial divan and representatives to their places of meeting. Scottish Rite cathedral, which will be followed by the opening ceremonies of the convention. This is Santa Monica Bay day. Tuesday has been set apart for a great Santa Monica Bay district day and an active committee is now preparing a most elaborate entertainment, far exceeding anything of its kind ever at-

MANY HURT IN WABASH WRECK

Fast Train Leaves Rails and Coach Turns on Its Side.

J. B. YATER MAY DIE FROM WOUNDS

Had Skull Fractured and Face Badly Cut and Bruised.

Twenty-one people were more or less injured at 5 o'clock last evening, when the fast mail and express train, No. 6, on the Wabash was derailed about thirteen miles east of this city, between Gar Creek and Woodburn. Following is a list of the injured:

J. C. Law, 420 West Wayne street, Fort Wayne; back wrenched, face cut, scalp wound. Is at his home.

J. B. Yater, of Toledo; mail clerk, fractured skull and face badly cut; injuries may be fatal; is at St. Joseph hospital.

James B. Humphreys, Fort Wayne; mail clerk, shoulders and chest injured; not serious.

Dr. H. O. Wells, Fort Wayne; body bruised, not serious.

James Leonard, badly shaken up, but not seriously hurt.

Mark T. Cochran, 713 Edgewater avenue, Fort Wayne, salesman for Fort Wayne Oil and Supply company; back and ankle sprained; not serious.

E. V. Livers, 849 Edgewater avenue, Fort Wayne; face and head cut; not serious.

Charles Paul, South Clinton street, Fort Wayne, salesman for Independent Rubber company; sprained ankle.

Not residing in Fort Wayne and only slightly injured: Charles M. Sarver and Charles C. Taber, agents, C. J. Adams, Toledo; Mrs. Cook, Hicksville, Ohio; Fireman E. F. Erlinger, Peru; C. E. Beck, Peru; Lizzie Fustes, Omaha, Neb.; E. M. Donnelly, Toledo; B. Odell, Baltimore; Frank D. Mayhew, St. Louis, Mo.; Robert Rauh, New York; George S. Hodel, Baltimore; H. O. Drinkuth, Cincinnati, and F. Ramsey, Toledo.

The last four named stopped at the hotels in Fort Wayne, after their injuries were dressed and the others continued on their journeys after receiving surgical attention.

Accident a Mystery.

The cause of the accident will probably remain a mystery. John Ross, who was at the throttle of the engine, says that the track at that point is practically new and the best piece of road between here and Toledo. He attributes the accident to some defect in the cars or to something dropping down from the tender or cars, which derailed them.

When they left the rails they tore up the track for a considerable distance, but as the engine remained on the rails Engineer Ross was able to operate the air brakes and the train had almost stopped before any of the cars were overturned.

Makeup of the Train.

The train consisted of the locomotive, an express car, two mail cars and a coach in the order named. The express car and one of the mail cars remained upright, but the coach and the other mail car went over on their sides, the coach in the ditch and the mail car on the tracks.

Aid Promptly on Hand.

The occupants of the coach received their injuries by flying glass and by being piled in heaps on the side of the car as it upset. Fortunately only a few of the people on the train were rendered helpless by the accident and those the least injured immediately went to the aid of the less fortunate ones. One of the most active in giving relief was Dr. H. O. Wells, who boarded the train at Detonia and who was himself slightly hurt. Under his direction, the wounded were promptly cared for and looked after until the arrival of the relief train which brought them to this city. With the exception of J. B. Yater, the mail agent, none is seriously injured. He suffers from concussion of the brain and it may be necessary to raise the depressed skull. It is not believed, however, that his injuries are fatal, though the attending surgeons pronounce his condition serious.

Worked All Night on Wreckage.

The tracks were cleared and opened to traffic within four hours after the accident, but the wreck crew worked all night in picking up the cars. On the train was H. West, carpenter foreman of the Wabash, with a gang of eight carpenters and luckily they escaped injury. These men immediately took up the work of clearing the tracks, under the direction of Mr. West, and they were soon joined by an array of section men gathered at the different points along the line. Later the wreck crew and derrick were called to the scene.

Passengers Praise the Engineer.

That there were not more serious results from the accident is due to the prompt action and the bravery of the engineer, the passengers say. He was running at the rate of forty-five or fifty miles an hour when he felt something give way back in the train and knew that some of the cars were off the rails. Instead of jumping, Engineer Ross shut off the steam and put on the emergency brake and remained at his post until the locomotive stopped. When this occurred the drivers were off the rails. The passengers and occupants of the mail cars say John Ross prevented an accident that might have been attended by great loss of life.

The Train Crew.

The personnel of the train crew was as follows: Conductor Peter Fording, Flagman Brenner, Brakeman Mead, Engineer John Ross and Fireman E. F. Erlinger. The latter was slightly injured, but the others escaped without a scratch. All reside in Peru.

IRVIN OUT FOR RE-ELECTION.

Orville Irvin, who is serving his third term as the representative of the Western division of the Pennsylvania Relief association, requests The Sentinel to state that he is a candidate for re-election. Mr. Irvin is suburban passenger conductor at Chicago, with headquarters in that city. So far as is known his opponents for the honor are James E. Whyte, a gang foreman at the Pennsylvania round house, and John Hebert, a machinist in the down town shops of the company.

FORTY-SEVEN ROADS IN IT.

The Federation of Railway Employees organized at Kansas City last week includes the machinists, the boilermakers, the pipelitters, the car repairmen, the blacksmiths and the carpenters of forty-seven railroads in the west. It is said that 300,000 shopmen are connected with it. Representatives of the allied crafts of the Wabash attended the meeting at Kansas City and were active in the work of organization.

WRECK AT HANNA STREET.

The caboose and three or four cars of a Wabash freight train left that company's tracks and started up the Pennsylvania tracks at 2:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon. They had not gone far, however, until they were derailed, causing a blockade of both the Wabash and the Pennsylvania tracks. Two of the safety gates were broken.

BECOMES TRACTION EMPLOYEE.

O. L. Staples, a boilermakers' helper, has resigned his position at the Pennsylvania shops, where he has worked for some time. He was formerly engaged in electrical work and will take a position as electrician with the Traction company.

CLEVELAND SHRINERS GO WEST.

Some time during the early hours of Sunday morning a train of Pullman cars, loaded with Shriners and their friends from Cleveland and vicinity will pass through this city over the Pennsylvania, en route to Los Angeles to attend the imperial council.

BRAKEMAN HAS LEG BROKEN.

Paul L. Tyler, a Pennsylvania freight brakeman, is at the home of his parents in Delphos, Ohio, with a fractured leg. He fell in alighting from a car at Delphos and the leg was broken just above the ankle. Tyler has not been in the employ of the company but a short time.

TWO SHOPMEN HURT.

George Van Horn had a leg bruised by being struck by a locomotive wedge yesterday and Tony Rosin had a leg bruised by a boiler front he was rolling upon him. The latter was taken to St. Joseph hospital. Both men are employed in the Pennsylvania erecting shop. Mr. Van Horn is a machinist.

REPAIRED ELEVEN ENGINES.

The output from the Pennsylvania erecting shop during the week just closing included the following engines, each of which received general repairs: Nos. 7239, 7296, 7407, 7533, 7637, 7751, 7770, 9023, 9052, 9074 and 9088.

BECOMES CRANE DIRECTOR.

R. Spilling has been transferred from machinist's helper in the Pennsylvania erecting shop to crane director in the same shop. He assumed the duties of the latter position this morning.

WIRE NAIL SURGERY

FIG. 1

FIG. 2

Next time a surgeon gets a whack at you—if you're ever so unlucky as to need a surgeon—he's likely to piece you together with nails—yes, real, ordinary wire nails!

And he'll probably do a good job, too, for the men using "wire-nail surgery" are among the most skillful in the world.

Twasn't so long ago that surgeons lopped off a leg or an arm with a hack-saw, and cauterized the raw flesh of their agonized patients with red-hot irons. Sometimes the patients survived the shock. Anyhow, that was the best means known then.

But nowadays amputation is only a desperate last resort. Modern anaesthetics and antiseptics have eliminated the horror and most of the suffering from operations. And surgeons of today are mending their patients with six and eight-penny nails, as you would mend a broken gate.

In the current number of the Journal of the American Medical Association Dr. John B. Murphy, celebrated surgeon and president of the association, tells about wire-nail surgery—how bones have been mended by pins of bone or ivory, by silver nails, or even by the steel wire nail of commerce.

He further tells how "cantilever" bridges of silver wire may be used to take the place of bones that have gone for keeps.

The X-ray picture printed herewith showing three wire nails driven through bone, illustrates a successful operation in wire-nail surgery.

The patient was treated for "Pott's fracture" (of the ankle) after the bone had once healed in an improper position. The bone was photographed by the X-ray, rebroken, and then set and held in place by three wire nails.

The nails are not actually driven into the solid bone with a hammer. A small hole is drilled, with the two pieces of bone in their proper relative position, and then the nail is carefully driven into the hole.

Sometimes a peg of live bone, cut from some portion of the patient's skeleton that can spare it just as well as not, is used as a dowel pin. Or a peg of ivory or a nail made of silver is used. Often a steel wire nail serves.

Figure 2 shows another wire-nail surgical job. In this case the two nails are used to hold the head of a bone to the shaft, while a union is formed. In this picture the fine tangled lines are bits of phosphor-bronze wire used in finishing up the job.

Figure 3 shows a "cantilever" jaw-bone, built up of silver wire to take the place of a real bone, removed because diseased. It was cut away up to the incisor teeth and a silver wire model put in its place.

This model had a metal head that was set in the socket formerly occupied by the head of the bone. Then the tissues of the jaw were woven in and put through the wire framework, the mucous membrane of the mouth mended and the skin carefully stretched over the outer surface.

That was three years ago and the silver jaw-bone is doing its work today quite as effectively as the other. As the operation destroyed the patient's back teeth, she is now going to have bridge work done to supply her with molars above the "cantilever" jaw-bone.

The Theatre

AT THE MAJESTIC.

SOUVENIR PERFORMANCE TONIGHT.

Photographs of Louise Dunbar to be Given at Majestic Theater.

The seventeenth and farewell performance of "The Light Eternal" in Fort Wayne at the Majestic theater tonight, will be marked by the giving of handsome photographs of Miss Louise Dunbar in the character of Princess Artemia as souvenirs. Miss Dunbar's great popularity among local play-goers makes this an especially good selection of a souvenir for the celebration of the farewell of this play. "The Light Eternal" company closes its road tour of thirty-nine weeks with tonight's performance at the Majestic. The company will disband for the summer and reassemble the latter part of August for rehearsals preparatory to an early start for the Canadian northwest and the Pacific coast states. As a rule presidential election years are not the best for show business, and it is Manager Rice's idea to get the company into the prosperous Alberta country for the few weeks of the fall season preceding the election.

SHEEHAN ENGLISH OPERA CO.

In "The Love Tales of Hoffman," at the Majestic Tuesday Evening.

The wonderful success of this famous organization is due in no small measure to the policy of the management of having only one company and making that one the best that experience and money can produce. At the head of the Sheehan English Opera company is Joseph F. Sheehan, America's greatest tenor, and surrounding him is a company of the foremost artists on the American stage, including Miss Gladys Caldwell, the young English prima donna, whose success in this country has been simply phenomenal. Miss Caldwell is said to be the colatura soprano in America today. Another notable member is Miss Marion Walker, contralto, who Mr. Sheehan secured last season from the Metropolitan Opera company, of Chicago, and whose interpretation of the boy, Nicholas, in "The Love Tales of Hoffman," is said to be one of the best made characters ever done by a woman in operatic work. Miss Annabel Tarlton, Mr. Charles Swickard, Mr. Francis J. Taylor, Mr. William J. Jorgenson, Mr. Kenneth Dudley, Mr. William Young and Mr. Joseph Hayward complete the cast of principals, the equal of which has never been heard in this country in English opera. The chorus of the Sheehan English Opera company is another important factor. Many of these young singers have been with this organization from three to four years, and their work is done with a precision and accuracy that makes it a delight to watch and listen to. Although the Sheehan Opera company has been recognized for the last four years as the leading singing organization in this country, its success this season has exceeded all previous efforts. In securing the exclusive English performing rights of Offenbach's wonderful opera, "The Love Tales of Hoffman," Mr. Sheehan made a master move. This opera is without doubt the musical sensation of the present day. The wonderful Barcarole, which is sung in the second act, is said to be one of the greatest musical numbers of this generation, and no other opera has ever scored the wonderful European success that this famous work of that master writer Offenbach has. For the past two years it has been the musical sensation of Europe and when first produced in French in this country by Oscar Hammerstein at the New York Manhattan opera house, it scored a veritable triumph. The praise and enthusiasm which is greeting Mr. Sheehan's English production on all sides leaves little doubt but what it is just as popular in this country as in Europe.

The famous tenor and his celebrated company will be heard in "The Love Tales of Hoffman" at the Majestic theater Thursday evening, April 30.

JOHN NICHOLSON COMING.

In "The Price They Pay," a New Play by His Wife, Letta Vance.

"The Price They Pay," Letta Vance's daring and sensational new play which comes to the Majestic theater Thursday, Friday and Saturday, voices the popular sentiment against the international marriage, the bargain by which so much American money is paid for so much foreign title. Twenty-five years before the opening of the play, such an unholy bargain as this has been consummated between the daughter of a wealthy American miner and a dissolute English lord of very ancient lineage. The first act paints a grim picture of the result. Lord and Lady Everlow have three sons, only one of whom they care to introduce to society. Alfred, their first-born, heir to the title and estate, is the prototype of his father. He spends his time drinking and gambling, and seldom honors his family with a visit, except when he steals in at dead of night to plunder his mother's jewel case in order to pay for his debaucheries. Their second son, Etel, is an even less familiar figure in the household of his parents than his brother Alfred. On him the sins of the father have descended with even more venom. He is deformed and trembling on the verge of insanity. He has discovered that morphine soothes his brain of his weird fancies. Ashamed of his body, he hides himself during the day and leaves his room only at night, taking advantage of the moonlight to hunt for the drug, which he has hidden in every possible place of concealment. But their youngest son Arthur puzzles the family physician by his likeliness to the rest of his race. He is clean and wholesome of body and brilliant of intellect, and possessed of unaccountable socialistic sympathies. There come as Joseph and Vivian Forde, the wife and niece of an American millionaire; the former a scheming social climber, the latter a beautiful girl, whose youth and innocence make so strong an appeal to Lady Everlow that she determines to save her, if possible, from a fate similar to her own. One follows with absorbing interest the story of the fight which the older woman makes to preserve the happiness of the younger, and of the startling facts which she is finally forced to reveal in regard to her three sons before the young girl's vision is finally made clear enough for her to assert her right to be happy, to renounce the wealth of her aunt and the title of the oldest son, and to marry the youngest, whom she loves. The play, though decidedly frank, is salutary in its tone. It advances the theory that the so-called "middle" of society occur not only among the poor and lowly, but are often to be found in high places. It is a great big human and humorous drama, with a message for all people.

TEMPLES NEW BILL

Lew Hawkins, "The Chesterfield of Minstrelsy," Heads the Big Bill.

When the curtain raises at the Temple Monday matinee at 2:30 it will disclose another grand array of vaudeville stars. Only two more weeks and the Temple will close for the summer and the management to show its appreciation for the excellent patronage this season, has looked for the two remaining weeks the best talent in the vaudeville field. The bill opening Monday will be headed by Lew Hawkins, "the Chesterfield of minstrelsy." Mr. Hawkins is too well known in this city as well as every city in the country, to need an introduction to the audience. Suffice to say that Mr. Hawkins has a new line of patter this season that the critics and managers declare is the best that ever happened, and his vaudeville will be another bright spot in his act. Mr. Hawkins has just completed thirty-five weeks on the Orpheum circuit, being featured and was the hit of every bill, and all vaudeville lovers who miss his act miss one of the biggest hits of the season.

Geo. W. Jones and Ben N. Deely, the two well-known comedians, are on the bill in their latest laughing sensation entitled, "Hotel St. Reckless." Like Lew Hawkins, Jones and Deely are too well known to need an introduction to the audience; they are two of the best laugh-creators in the business, and if you fail to laugh at this pair of clever comedians there is something seriously wrong and you had better consult a doctor.

Monroe and Mack will appear in a military travesty, "The New Recruit." The act is this week one of the big laughing hits on the season's star bill at the Majestic theater, Chicago. Ethel May Barker, the beautiful and talented violinist, is on the big bill. The music-lovers have a real treat in store for them, as she is said to be a "Kubelik in Petticoats."

Monroe Brothers—Paul and Carl—are the world's greatest exponents of physical culture and Greek art, featuring punches that brought name and defeat to past and present champions of the prize ring.

The Musical Stipps are xylophone artists and will be heard in both classical and popular selections.

The motion picture man will be on hand with some new photo plays that will be first run subjects.

As for the orchestra it will be a strictly Dickey program, as every number is from Mr. Dickey's own pen and will be heard for the first time Monday afternoon. The program is as follows: "Down at the Lake," "Waltzes," "Evening Idyl," "Dance of the Oyster and the Clam," and "The Exit March."

For the closing week, which is the week of May 6—the management has been busy and sure has booked some show, headed by "The Venus of the Deep," Odiva, the sensational Samoan diving queen, who is the season's greatest novelty. Odiva possesses a complexion like ivory and the form of Venus. The act is costing the Temple management for her engagement in this city $5,000 for the week. Odiva's scenic properties are so extensive that they are carried in a special baggage car of the largest type and handled by a special crew of stage carpenters and mechanics. Odiva is but twenty-three years of age, but she has been known to stay at the bottom of the sea for five minutes and thirty-two seconds, which is the longest time on record for a human being to remain submerged.

OUTFITTERS

Grand Souvenir Opening
Next Monday, April 29th.

Special attention is called to the full page advertisement of the Fort Wayne Outfitters store, which appears in another part of this issue. It advertises the annual spring opening of this popular establishment, which is one of the looked for events of the spring season, as in previous years a handsome souvenir will be given to every caller at the start that day; this year the souvenir being a pretty white enameled tooth brush holder. Aside from this the Outfitters has placed on sale for the day about a half dozen souvenir specials, which are fully described in the advertisement. The management, however, wishes to distinctly impress upon the minds of every reader that no one is under any obligation to buy anything, and those who come to "visit and inspect only," will be as cordially welcomed as those who come to buy. The store for the occasion will be decorated in its prettiest and the stock of course will be displayed in the most attractive manner and to the best advantage. Besides the free souvenirs there will be flowers and an orchestra to furnish the music. The doors will be opened at 8 o'clock Monday morning and the invitation is general to call early. Mr. T. Hallenstein, the manager, and son, Earl, the assistant manager, will be in attendance throughout the day to greet and welcome the guests and hopes to make this the most notable of the many events of like character the Outfitters' store has tendered the Fort Wayne public.

FIND BALCONIES IN POMPEII

Every House in the Newly Uncovered Street Has an Elaborate One.

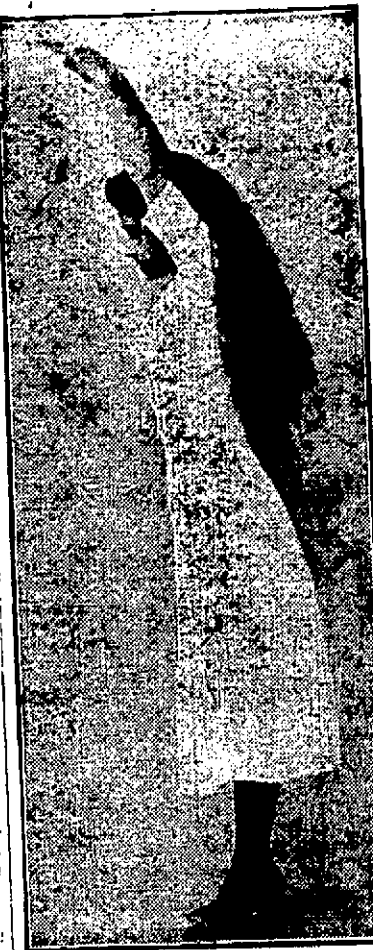

Rome.—A feature of great interest in the "Street of Abundance," which was brought to view in Pompeii a few days ago, is that every house has a balcony.

Heretofore, in all Pompeii only one balcony had been discovered, and it was supposed that the Pompeians did not indulge in this very Italian way of taking the air.

The balconies now found are most elaborate, with columns and much decoration. They bring the old life and old civilization much nearer to our own and render it more understandable.

Remarkable Success of These Talented Physicians in the Treatment of Chronic Diseases

OFFER THEIR SERVICES FREE OF CHARGE

The Associated Doctors, licensed by the state of Indiana for the treatment of deformities and all nervous and chronic diseases of men, women and children, offer to all who call on this trip, consultation, examination, advice free, making no charge whatever, except the cost of medicine. All that is asked in return for these valuable services is that every person treated will state the result obtained to their friends and thus prove to the sick and afflicted in every city and locality, that at last treatments have been discovered that are reasonably sure and certain in their effect.

These doctors are considered by many former patients among America's leading stomach and nerve specialists and are experts in the treatment of chronic diseases and so great and wonderful have been their results that in many cases it is hard indeed to find the dividing line between skill and miracle.

Diseases of the stomach, intestines, liver, blood, skin, granulated eyelids, nerves, heart, spleen, kidneys, bladder, rheumatism, dropsy, sciatica, diabetes, bed-wetting, leg ulcers, weak lungs and those afflicted with long-standing, deep-seated, chronic diseases that have baffled the skill of the family physician, should not fail to call.

According to their system no more operations for appendicitis, gall stones, tumors, goiter or certain forms of cancer. They were among the first in America to earn the name of the "Bloodless Surgeons," by doing away with knife, with blood and with all pain in the successful treatment of these dangerous diseases.

If you have kidney or bladder troubles bring a two-ounce bottle of your urine for chemical analysis and microscopic examination.

Deadness often has been cured in sixty days.

No matter what your ailment may be, no matter what others may have told you, no matter what experience you may have had with other physicians, it will be to your advantage to see them at once. Have it forever settled in your mind, if your case is incurable they will give you such advice as may relieve and stay the disease. Do not put off this duty you owe yourself or friends or relatives who are suffering because of your sickness, as a visit this time costs you nothing.

Remember, this free offer is for three days only.

Married ladies must come with their husbands and minors with their parents.

CAR STRUCK WAGON

In the circuit court today judgment was entered against the Fort Wayne and Northern Indiana Traction company in favor of Charles W. Myers, who accepted $3,100 in payment of his claim for injuries sustained last September when a street car struck a wagon on which he was seated.

The money was paid into court and

DON'T BE UN-REASONABLE

If You Neglect the Care of the Scalp You Should Not Expect Beautiful Hair.

The hair is more exposed and hence more liable to accumulate dust and dirt than any other portion of the body.

In spite of this the hair receives, as a rule, the least attention and no real effort is made to keep it healthy. If the dandruff germ is allowed to work unmolested and the scalp becomes encrusted with dirt accumulations, one may expect the hair to die and fall out. There is no cause for surprise in this phenomenon; it is natural and happens in every instance where the care of the hair and scalp is overlooked.

The one sure remedy which prevents the loss of hair and permits a healthy, luxuriant growth is found in Newbro's Herpicide.

The dandruff germ cannot live on a head to which Herpicide is regularly applied. The germ dies. The hair ceases to fall. The terrible itching stops almost instantly.

That is what Newbro's Herpicide does.

One dollar size bottles are sold and guaranteed by all druggists.

THE NOSE A FILTER TO STRAIN THE AIR

Catarrh Clogged Nostrils a Breeding Place for Deadly Germs.

The nostrils are perfect "air filters" and, when kept in clean, healthy state, strain every bit of air we breathe, catching all dust particles, foreign matter and germs. The air is full of germs. You cannot dodge them, but you can safeguard yourself against catarrh and other diseases contracted in the process of breathing by keeping the nostrils clean and healthy. Catarrh germs will sometimes get in their work, and you may mistake the symptoms for an ordinary cold.

Don't take any chances. If you have a stuffed up feeling in the head, or if your throat is sore or filled with phlegm, just grease the nostrils with a little Ely's Cream Balm, draw the pure, aromatic fumes back in the head, and you will be astonished at the effect. In a few minutes you will feel a loosening up in the head, and nasty discharge will soon be stopped. The soreness gone, and you will feel a sense of genuine relief.

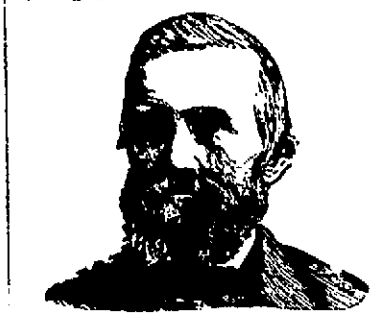

Ely's Cream Balm not only wards off catarrh, but will quickly cure even a chronic, longstanding case of catarrh. It takes the trouble right where it starts, in the nose and throat, cleanses, heals and strengthens the raw, sore inside skin, or membrane, and in this way drives out catarrh and makes you freed against this filthy, disgusting disease.

Summer Colds, which often hang on for weeks, can be quickly cured with this cleansing, healing, antiseptic balm. All druggists sell it for fifty cents a bottle, and the one bottle is generally all that is needed to effect a complete cure. Try it today.

His Rupture Cured Eleven Years Ago.
This is a trait of the veteran, Wm. C. Waterstreet, Napoleon, Mich., a well known and respected farmer who had been suffering for a long time with a severe rupture. He had tried one thing after another without cure. Trusses were of no use—he was greatly distressed and discouraged; when he heard of the Rice Method, became convinced, upon investigation, that it is genuine and practical. Then he proved it for himself. Nearly a dozen years have passed and Mr. Waterstreet is still free from the rupture, enjoying good health. This is but one of a great number of such cases. Let no one who is ruptured remain in doubt but ask me to prove what my Method is capable of doing. I am willing to send Proof Treatment.

THE DEATHS
SEEMAN.

Mrs. Louise Seeman, widow of Conrad Seeman, died Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock at a local hospital from infirmities of age. She was eighty-three years old.

The deceased had been a resident of Fort Wayne for forty-six years and was widely known throughout Allen county. She was a native of Germany and was born at Winheim. She was a member of Emanuel Lutheran church.

The remains were removed to the home of William and Fred Lange, nephews, at 808 Lavinia street. Mrs. Henry Sutmeyer, a niece, also survives.

Funeral services Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the residence and at 2:15 o'clock from Emanuel's Lutheran church, Rev. Moll officiating.

BLITZ.
The infant son of Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Blitz, of West Wayne street, died Friday evening from exhaustion. Funeral services will be private.

ANOTHER SIDE TO THE CASE
Just a Few Things Elderly Man Overlooked in His Indictment of Lazy Housewives.

Said the elderly man in the street car: "One thing that runs up the cost of living is the laziness of the average woman. She's too lazy to carry bundles home from the stores. Everything she buys, from a spoon of thread up, she asks to have delivered, and the cost of the delivering adds 10 per cent to the cost of every article. Now, my wife is different from the common run. Every week day in the rear she goes to the market with a big basket, does her own buying and carries the stuff home herself. That's more than your wife does, I'll bet."

Said the younger man: "Does your wife do her own housework?"

"No, we keep a girl."

"Has your wife got a houseful of children to care for?"

"No, we only have a 'comet.'"

"Does your wife have to go to market in an overcrowded street car?"

"No, she has her limousine."

"My wife doesn't own a limousine, she has a houseful of children to care for, and she does her own work. Under the circumstances I don't see that my wife isn't just as much of a woman as yours, even if she doesn't get down town very often."

"You needn't get cross about it," retorted the elderly man.

"I'm not cross," said the younger man. "Only I don't like to hear women libeled."

TEETH WORTH $1,500 EACH
Man Who Lost Eight Is Awarded $12,000 Damages by New York Jury.

New York.—It is very expensive to knock eight good teeth from a man's head, as the Brooklyn Heights Railroad company learned in Long Island City, when a jury brought in a verdict of $12,000 against the company. The jury decided that each tooth was worth $1,500.

The case was that of Axel Homestead, an insurance man of Brooklyn. He was about to board a trolley car in October, 1910, when he was struck and knocked down by another car.

BARNHART AND MANN IN CLASH

Lively Wrangle Over Question of Trust Control of Newspapers.

WHACK AT CAMPBELL

Washington, April 27.—Presidential politics again held the attention of the house today. Representative Langley, of Kentucky, a republican, took Representative Campbell, of Kansas, republican to task for his recent attack on Col. Roosevelt.

"I do not think it proper for gentlemen who may have got the worst of it on the stump or in the newspapers to come into the house and air their grievances," said Mr. Langley. The Kentuckian a little later declared that if the republican leaders continued to fight each other a democratic victory in November might be expected.

The postoffice appropriation bill was under consideration. Representative Barnhart, of Indiana, democrat, speaking on his amendment to the postal laws to require the names of owners, stockholders and publishers of newspapers to be printed daily, contended there were many rumors that the International Harvester controlled certain New York papers, and that he "knew it controlled a certain Chicago paper."

"I don't think the gentleman knows that," interrupted Representative Mann, of Illinois.

"Do not let the McCormicks control the Chicago Tribune," asked Mr. Barnhart. "Not the same McCormicks who are in the International Harvester company," said Mr. Mann.

"Are they not the same family?" asked Mr. Barnhart.

"No, not even the same family," said Mr. Mann.

"My information has been that the same family that is the principal stockholder in the International Harvester trust controls the Chicago Tribune. If that is not true, I will not make the statement."

"That certainly is not true," said Mr. Mann.

"Well, I happen to know it is true, or it is so reported that Mr. Perkins, head of the harvester trust, owns the New York Mail, and owns it by subterfuge," declared Mr. Barnhart.

"The company reorganized and issued bonds and Mr. Perkins holds the majority of the bonds and dictates the policy of that paper in behalf of the harvester trust and a certain great reform candidate for the presidency."

MODEL IN A DOUBLE SENSE
One Quality in Wax Figure Which Convinced Mr. Jones She Would Make a Good Wife.

Mr. Jones came home at an unseasonably hour the other night, and was surprised to see Mrs. Jones sitting up for him below stairs with no other light than that of the gas lamp which faced the door to keep her company.

"M-M-Marie," he said, huskily, "you shouldn't sit up 'till late when I'm out on business."

As Mrs. Jones did not answer him, he continued, in an alarmed voice: "Shorry, m'dear, but it's late time—tell you I'm sorry—won't speak to me?"

John M. Schenck, Fountaintown, Ind., recommends Foley's Honey and Tar Compound. He says, "I was troubled with asthma about four years, so bad I could not sleep. I took everything I heard of for asthma, and doctored also, but got no relief until I tried Foley's Honey and Tar Compound. It helped me from the first dose, and the continued use cured me. It is now a long time since I was cured, and I have no symptoms of a return of the disease." Preier Drug Co., Two Stores.

This is THE Pipe Dream

Some time, somewhere, someone may make tobacco like Prince Albert—but that happenin is still wrapped up in the hope-so package, tied tight. No pipe-smoker ever went to a dream of a smoke like P. A. No cigarette smoker ever compounded a roll like he can make with P. A. That's because no other tobacco is made like P. A. The flavor is up in the big-money class and the stinger is cut out in the makin.

PRINCE ALBERT

is the cool, sweet smoking—steady burning, just packed with quality, and then hammered down. There's no use talkin, it sure has the jinks on any pipe or cigarette tobacco I've ever smoked, and I've smoked some, believe me. Yes! Come on—light up and go to it. The smoke-ry over on the corner sells P. A. and the bosun of that craft will tell you that it's a good bet and a fine smoke. Yes!

P. A. is produced by an exclusive patented process that takes out the bite. No P. A. won't bite your tongue or burn your mouth.

KIDNEY TROUBLES CAN BE AVOIDED.

You cannot afford to neglect the slightest kidney ailment—it's hazardous to do so.

The poisonous waste material must be separated from the blood and if the kidneys become weakened this is impossible.

That means a poisoned system.

That's why neglect means trouble—the ailment becomes chronic and results in Rheumatism or Bright's Disease.

WHEAT GOES TO $1.12

Corn and Oats Also Sell at Advanced Prices.

Wheat took another upward step today on the local markets, advancing from $1.10 to $1.12. The cause is the same that has been referred to several times in this column, the poor outlook for this year's crop.

Corn continues to bring fancy prices. Several loads of it sold on the street today for from 84c to 86c a bushel. Oats brought as high as 62 cents. Eggs advanced a decline. Today they sold at 18¢ per dozen.

GRAIN AND PROVISIONS.

Chicago Market.
Chicago, Ill., April 27.—Probable shows tonight and Sunday throughout Nebraska, checked the buying fever today in wheat. July started at $1.12 to $1.13 and declined to $1.12.
Subsequently reports of a big decrease in North Dakota acreage and of heavy losses in Edwards and Stafford counties, Kan., led to a sharp uptick. The close was nervous at $1.12½ to $1.13 for July, a net gain of ½¢.
Steadiness in the degree unusual of late developed in the corn trade. July opened at 77½¢ to 77¾¢ and appeared inclined to keep within those limits.
The market afterward hardened a little with wheat, but closed easy at 77½¢ to 77¾¢ for July, just a shade above last night.

Selling by local speculators had a depressing effect on oats. July started at 64½¢ to 64¾¢ and was suggested to 64½¢ to 64¾¢.
Lightness of offerings allowed provisions to continue to advance. Initial sales ranged from 2½¢ lower to 17½¢ rise, with September delivery $1.90 to $1.95 for pork, $1.12½ to $1.13 for lard and $1.05 to $1.07½ for ribs.

ROMANCE OF WAR TIMES IN SOUTH

Officer's Efforts to Find
Woman Who Saved
His Life.

WAS A UNION NURSE

Bloomington, Ill., April 23.—A romance that Thackeray would have loved and lingered over, was disclosed by the search of Gen. Byron Abernethy, one of the most distinguished leaders of the confederacy, for the nurse whose tender and constant ministrations saved his life after he had been wounded almost unto death at the battle of Petersburg. Weighted down with nearly eighty years, he realized that the end of earthly things could not long be postponed. Typical of the way in which the human soul, when the last hour of mortal existence draws near, turns back to the familiar things of the early days, was the hunger of the general to pay a final tribute of gratitude to his "Annie Laurie." He journeyed all the way from his home in Wheeling, W. Va., that he might press the hand of his devoted nurse and again tell her of his life-long gratitude for her attentions in the grim old hospital at Petersburg when it contained hundreds of victims of the bloody conflict, now but shadowy memory.

"If she is living, I live to bless her," wrote Abernethy with simple eloquence. "If she is dead, I live only to cherish her memory." The pages of the letter written by the general in which he sought to find his long missing nurse, breathe a sentiment akin to the fragrance, faint and sweet, of treasured memories and lares, and pathetic as well as romantic.

There was to be joy and not grief, as the portion of the "Annie Laurie" yet lived. She is making her home at the present time in Peoria, Ill. Now in her 68th year, but bright faced, clear eyed and vigorous, despite her years, she was pleased to know that she had not been forgotten and that her distinguished patient of a half century ago, still remembered her and wished to see her once more before the end.

An Old Photograph.

Of especial interest to her was his retention of her photograph, a faded tintype taken when she was famed as the Daughter of the Sixth Maryland regiment, a daring spy and confidential messenger of Gen. Sherman, and the tender and compassionate nurse in the union hospitals. She had long since forgotten the existence of the picture, and when he proudly exhibited it as his most prized possession, it was a joyful moment for the recipient of his gratitude. The ancient photograph brought back a flood of memories for both the general and his "Annie Laurie." In spite of her years, she still retains enough of the sparkle and daring of her faraway youth, to be plainly recognized as the original of the tintype carried for so long by the southern leader. The hero of this romance recently declared:

"I would have died in the Petersburg hospital if it had not been that Annie Laurie cared for me so tenderly." The general eloquently told of the service that his nurse had performed for her country. Besides being a faithful attaché of the hospital, and a daring and fearless young girl, she was a very beautiful girl, as the fading lines of the old-time photograph yet plainly disclose. In spite of the unattractive attire of the war-time period, the picture shows a young woman lovely and graceful enough to have captured the heart of any impressionable young officer, and when it is reflected that she added to her other charms that of womanly tenderness and sympathy it is small wonder that even after all these years the general's fancy turned so warmly to her memory and that he longed to see the lovely Annie Laurie of the war-time period before he died. Although now a wrinkled woman, aged by illness and the tacking care of an invalid husband she is still young and beautiful to Gen. Abernethy; she is still the sweet and tender nurse who won him back to life in that far away time by her gentle ministrations.

A Union Spy.

"Annie Laurie," as she is called by Gen. Abernethy, is really Anna Laura Newman. She has been twice married. At the outbreak of the civil war she was married to Lieut. Abram B. Mount, at Lafayette, Ind., who was an officer in the Sixth Maryland infantry. She accompanied her husband to the front as a volunteer nurse and when not in the service of the union commanders as a spy, took care of the sick and wounded in the northern hospitals. She talks unforgettably of her experience as a spy and many of them bordered upon the sensational. She, on one occasion, made a trip of 125 miles to convey a message from Gen. Sherman to Gen. Butler, and as it was necessary to go through the confederate lines to reach her destination, she was forced to take extreme measures to avoid capture. While en route she stopped at a small house and was given a meal by a woman, who informed her that she had a son in the confederate army. Upon the suggestion of the spy that she be given some article of food to take to the soldier, a parcel was made up and this proved sufficient to secure her continued treatment and on her return, she was able to get through the lines without difficulty and her message to Gen. Butler was delivered. The union leaders to accomplish an important army movement.

An extraordinary incident which always brought regret to the spy occurred in Virginia during the campaign of Gen. Joe Hooker, known to fame as "Fighting Joe." The spy was delegated to carry a message and was given a Steadman pony as a means of transportation. She completed her mission and was on route back to the union lines when she inadvertently rode too close to the confederate pickets and was captured. She was made up as a young girl with long hair and was recognized by the confederates when she was taken. The fact that she lived up in the mountains and was able to call upon a neighbor on the way. Two of the young officers were greatly excited, and, being

Told by the Troubled Tourist

OW that this back-to-the-farm idea has become an international affair, with all the lords and dukes and earls and some one will have to start a back-to-the-city counter movement or we won't have anybody left," observed the Troubled Tourist.

"Growing tired of wearing the ermine and the miniver—whatever that is—some of our best little marquises seem determined to exchange the same for bluejeans and overalls, and instead of lording it in ancestral halls they are mighty anxious all of a sudden to get out and feed the chickens and rake the meadows sweet with hay.

"Instead of being awakened by the dulcet tones of James about ten A. M., they insist on being aroused by the clatter notes of clock tea they will be out driving the rows home and enjoying all the benefits of that festive season known in back-to-the-farmdom as milking time.

"Of course, all this relieves our harried youth over here of the responsibility of going back to the farm, for the farms will soon be maintained and operated exclusively and extensively by members of the British aristocracy, and 'By Heck!' will have given away entirely to 'My Word!'

"We'll have nothing but the best of baronial butter, early rose potatoes, and eggs only from the most huppish hens. All farm hands will be required to use only the best British accent.

"The elderdown quilt will be given up for the faithful corn husk mattress and the fleecyly topper will be replaced by the hickory straw hat of commerce.

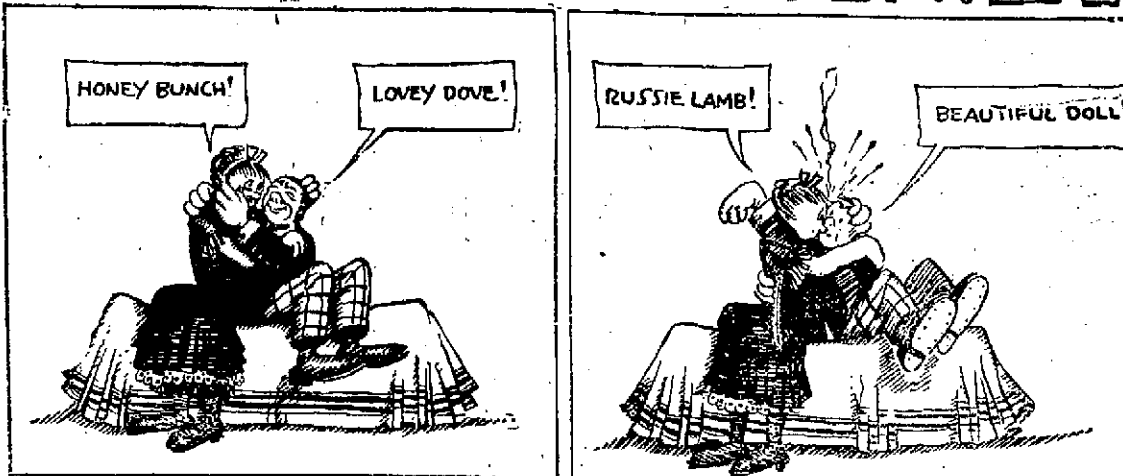

"And if the noble lords make this back-to-the-farm idea fashionable there will be such a rush to the woods as the Klondike in its wildest days never dreamed of. All the Easter parades will have to be held on the Jimtown turnpike instead of on the avenue, as heretofore."

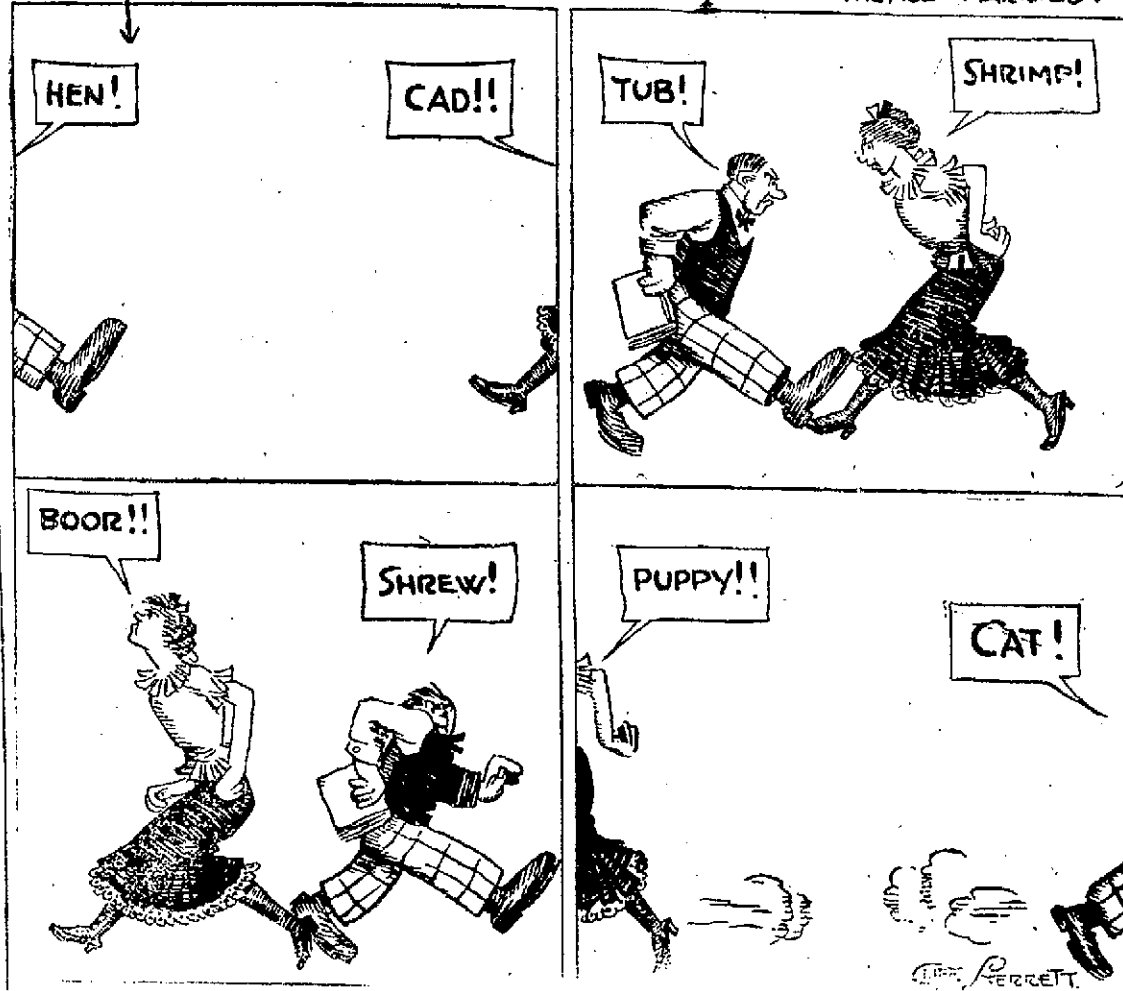

"MY WORD, WHAT'S THAT?"

"Instead of attending a baronial five o'clock tea they will be out driving the
